The United States transport Arago, HENRY A. GARDNER commanding, from Port Royal, S. C., at 12 M., was off Stono Inlet at 9 P. M. of Friday, the 15th inst., arrived at 7 P. M. yesterday, bringing 74 first-class and 100 second-class passengers, and the usual mails.

Among the passengers are Brig.-Gen. VODGES, Brig.-Gen. AMES, and Capt. AMES, United States Navy.

FOR ST. AUGUSTINE CORRESPONDENCE.

Anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation—Evacuation of St. Augustine from the World—A Sharp Affair in the Guerkiria—A Woodchopper's Guard Attacked by Rebel Cavalry—Nineteen Prisoners Taken and Four Men Killed.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Friday Jan. 1, 1864.

The freedmen of this place have celebrated their first anniversary of the Proclamation of Emancipation to-day, and with entire success. At eleven A. M., they met on the Plaza, the bands of the two regiments playing for them, and citizens and strangers looking on with eager interest. The school children, dressed neatly, marched upon the ground and shared in the exercises. Their songs, their quiet attention, and their creditable appearance in every way, gave good proof of the earnest efforts of their philanthropic teachers. Judge SPICKNAY, one of the Tax Commissioners for this State, and a prominent citizen of Florida, presided, and made a short address, followed by the Chaplains of the regiments, Rev. Mr. WILSON, of the Twenty-fourth Massachusetts, and Rev. Mr. TRUESDALE, of the Tenth Connecticut. Each spoke earnestly to them of their new position and new duties as freemen, urging the necessity of labor, in order to prove themselves true men, and worthy of the blessings of freedom. After the addresses, the Rev. Mr. BARNEKNEKER, in the name of the freedmen, repeated the invitation which had already been given by note to a hundred persons, to a dinner in the Court-house. The band preceded, and ladies and gentlemen, the officers of the two regiments, and distinguished strangers, marched to the large hall and found two long tables, loaded down with all the variety of food that this place affords, and a much more display than we are accustomed to see of the best viands here. Considering the disadvantages of a military post, the thing was most handsomely done. The colored people looked very proud and happy, as they served their guests, and then, after rearranging the tables, took their places. They were thanked in the name of the company, for their beautiful and highly creditable entertainment, and left to enjoy their happy anniversary by themselves, and in their own way. The room was tastefully decorated with wreaths of evergreen and boughs of orange trees, with the golden fruit still unplucked, and the school children on the piazza sang "When this Cruel War is Over," "John Brown," and various other popular melodies. I must not forget to mention the hearty cheers which they gave on the Plaza, for the Union and to ABRAHAM LINCOLN. It is no wonder that they place him next to their Saviour in their gratitude and love.

One venerable old man said to me as I congratulated him, "It is not of much use to me, but it is to my children," and his face fairly beamed with happiness. The little children looked quite as intelligent as a similar number of white children could do, and seemed to appreciate fully the reason for rejoicing.

The negroes cannot yet fully estimate the necessity for labor. One of them said: "That Chaplain of the Twenty-fourth is a regular Secesh. He told me to work and that is what the Secesh told us."

The white population have had a slight drawback to their enjoyment of the New-Year's Day. Our Government holds St. Augustine—that is, an extent of four or five miles in length on the coast, and back to the San Sebastian River, scarcely a mile from east to west. Inhabiting this dot on the face of the earth, but cut off by the rebels from all inland communication, and by the blockade from all communication by water, you may imagine with what eagerness a boat, our only connecting link with the world, is looked for. Our worthy Quartermaster at Hilton Head, sends one small occasionally, with supplies, and in this way we get our mails. Once a week, or once in ten days, in his benificence, he gives the order, generally just before the arrival of a steamer from New-York, so that our news seems to us, the unlettered, as unnecessarily tardy and stale. This morning, during the exercises on the Plaza, a boat was announced in sight, and we finally saw its flag the other side of the point of Anastasia Island. An hour after, we were told, that owing to the wind and tide, the boat had been obliged to put back to Fernandina. It was a great disappointment to those of us who have been nearly a month from home without hearing a word. It is very strange that the Commander of the Post should have no boat at his disposal. This, with a few companies of cavalry, seems to be absolutely essential to the efficiency of his command, as you will see by the misadventure of the 30th. Col. CROSBY, of the Massachusetts Twenty-fourth, and the Commander of the Post, had knowledge that a mounted band, headed by DICKINSON, was conscripting this side of Jacksonville and the St. John's River. Anxious for the safety of the wood-cutters, who are obliged to provide great quantities of wood for daily consumption, and who were liable to be robbed of their trains, he increased the guard always sent with them, and kept scouts out to advise him of the anticipated approach of the cavalry. On the morning of the 30th, word was brought that no enemy could be discovered, and all seemed to be secure. As it turned out, some 50 or 100 cavalry lay in ambush for the guard, dismounting a part and hiding them in the low palmetto bushes, which are so dense that it is impossible to see a man at the distance of his length. The advance guard, huddled together, in the road, on account of the nature of the ground, was allowed to pass, and the rest were fired upon and immediately surrounded by the mounted men. What could infantry do? They fired, but were nearly all taken prisoners. The officer in command was desperately injured at the second fire, and this, with the absence of the enemy, discouraged our men. Only nine escaped of the guard. The wood-cutters all returned in safety, and one of them, concealed in the bushes, overheard the rebels, furiously angry because they had failed in their special object—the capture of the Colonel. Sergt. WEBSTER, of the Twenty-fourth Massachusetts, the officer in command of our men, was shot through the neck, and is supposed to be mortally wounded. DICKINSON, the rebel leader, came to him and expressed his sympathy for him, gave him his own overcoat to put under his head, protected him from robbery, and obliged his men to restore the watch of one of the privates who was killed. His name was BURNS, from Greenwich, Conn. He had a son in the same regiment, (the Tenth Connecticut,) and a nephew. The nephew was taken prisoner. I send you a list of the names of the missing men, who all belonged to the Tenth Connecticut:

NAMES OF MEN KILLED AND TAKEN PRISONERS DEC. 30, OF THE TENTH REGIMENT, C. V.

Company A—Privates John Shephard and George Seward.

Company B—Corporal Bishop; privates Pratt and Parker.

Company G—Private John Hollister.

Company D—Privates Owen and Reid.

Company E—Privates Davis and Bryan.

Company F—Privates Chesley, Brute and Champlin.

Company G—Privates Wood and Whaley.

Company H—Privates Andrew Johnson, Wm. R. Johnson, John Leber.

KILLED.

Company I—Privates Wm. Burns, Chamberlain and J. H. Burns.

Company K—Private George Barton.

When the news of this affair reached Col. CROSBY, he was at brigade drill, and the two regiments happened at the moment to be drawn up in line of battle. He ordered the Twenty-fourth to the pursuit, and all was done that could be done with infantry. With a few companies of cavalry, DICKINSON might have been driven into the St. John's River in a short time. The city itself is in no danger, for there is but one way of entrance and that near the camp. Besides, there are no stores of provisions here and nothing to tempt an attack. It is very vexatious to have our brave fellows picked off in this way and carried into captivity almost worse than death. It is not two weeks since their own Chaplain gave them an account of his sufferings in prison among the rebels.

We have the gratifying intelligence by a Savannah paper, which has found its way here, that four of the fellow-prisoners of Rev. Mr. TRUESDALE, have succeeded in escaping from Columbia, S. C., and are probably this time in a place of safety.

JAN. 4.—A boat has arrived since the 1st, bringing Gen. AMES, of Connecticut, for the refreshment of veterans, but none have gone out, and it is uncertain when our letters can leave. We lead a Robinson Crusoe sort of life.

The weather is somewhat surprising to those who leave the North, on account of the "sudden changes." On the 31st the thermometer stood at 80° in the shade. In less than forty-eight hours the ice was an inch thick. We do not take cold, but every one feels cold, and this, more perceptibly on account of the scarcity of wood, the negroes not daring to go out for it since the recent attack. To-day we can sit in a room without a fire, and, when this pouring rain is over, we expect every thermometer to do its duty, and resume its proper position at about 60° or 65°.

JAN. 6.—Lieut. WALKER died very suddenly on the morning of the 1st. His physician gave no encouragement to hope for his recovery, but he suffered so little pain, and could take food so comfortably, that I think, he did not consider himself in great danger. He was about twenty-three years of age, and from Boston. His funeral was attended on the 5th with military honors. His remains will be conveyed to his friends. The Chaplets who officiated at his funeral, among other remarks suited to the occasion, mentioned, with gratitude, the conduct of the rebel Captain toward the unfortunate young man. Let all similar good deeds be duly chronicled and meet with their just reward of praise, and a better feeling will exist on both sides. S. C.

OUR FOLLY ISLAND CORRESPONDENCE.

Progress of the Siege—The General Aspect of Affairs—The Flag on Fort Strong.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FOLLY ISLAND, S. C., Friday, Jan. 15, 1864.

NO CHANGE IN THE SITUATION.

After an absence of one month from the Department of the South, I have returned to find military operations in nearly an unchanged condition. This army, like all the armies at the present unfavorable season, seems to be employed in passing the time in a manner agreeable and congenial until the coming Spring shall open with its renewed prospects of additional strife, and, we hope, continued victories. The importance attached to the result of the BOXER campaign, not of this army alone, but of the combined forces of the Union, is appreciated by both officers and men. A will to accomplish the great event which shall hasten forward the dissolving view of this fearful conflict is clearly depicted on the countenances of the brave soldiers here assembled, and the nation may be assured that when the proper time to act arrives, the soldiers under GILLMORE will not be wanting in the display of bravery and perseverance. It is not proposed in this correspondence to promulgate absurd and exaggerated views tending to incite the public mind with anticipations of the capture of Charleston within a brief period. That particular subject has already been discussed so often, and the time when the culminating blow shall have been given fixed so definitely and frequently, that it is reasonable to believe the people at home, having failed to realize the chronicled expectations, are heartily weary of further speculation, and desire either substantiated facts or complete silence. I will neither give nor accept wagers pending on the future history of Charleston. We have the same encouragement to-day that the city will speedily fall into our hands, as existed three and four months ago—no more. Its fate will be decided by the fortunes of war, when the land forces shall have received orders to make an advance movement. While everything betokens a favorable issue for us, it may not be out of place to casually refer by way of contrast to the hopes and fears of the South as evidenced by their own citizens and exhibited in the columns of their newspapers. It is well known that hundreds of rebels have recently abandoned Dixie and sought shelter in the large cities of the North. Some profess to be deserters, others refugees. Of the number who have thus changed their places of abode, a proportionate share passed through the lines of this department. In their statements concerning affairs at the South, they agree, as a general thing, as to the despondent feeling of the populace; also, the symptoms observable of a real difficulty in procuring sustenance for the army. The citizens manage to obtain a comparatively good supply of the common necessities of life, but it cannot be denied the soldiers are woefully pinched for even a limited allowance. If the army cannot be supplied, then the rebel cause must fail, and, in the opinion of the fleeing rebels one more successful campaign by our forces would so contract the enemy's lines that he would find it impossible to gather provisions sufficient to maintain his troops three months. The extracts from rebel journals found in Northern papers go far to sustain the plausibility of these statements, beside touching upon other topics of vital importance. We are impressed with something of that conviction so predominant at the North, that one more vigorous effort will seal the fate of the rebellion. With returning Spring that effort will be made, and the Department of the South will be found in the advancing columns.

A CONTRABAND'S STORY FURTHER STRONG.

On Tuesday last, the Anaconda fired two behind for the first time over Fort Strong. The event was attended with all the ceremony usually observed on such occasions. By invitation of Capt. BENEDICT, of the Third Rhode Island artillery, the Commander of the Fort, a large assemblage of officers were present, among whom were Gen. TERRY, Gen. EAKER, of Connecticut, Col. DAVIS, Capt. HAMILTON, Col. DAHLGREN, Mr. A. L. SWINSON, of Adams' Express, and numerous other military and civic personages. At the proper moment the flag was raised by Capt. BENEDICT, assisted by a sergeant. The act was accompanied by a salute of thirty-five guns fired at intervals of fifteen seconds from the pieces mounted in Fort Strong. The salute was succeeded by cheers for the flag and for Gen. TERRY. Appropriate speeches were listened to from Gen. TERRY, Gen. EAKER, Capt. HAMILTON, Mr. A. L. SWINSON and others, after which the entire party repaired to one of the bomb-proofs, and partook of Captain BENEDICT's sumptuous hospitality. Toasts were freely given and responded to, and every one seemed to enjoy to an unbounded extent the entertainment offered. One table was lighted by candles placed in the bore of 10-inch shells which the enemy had fired at the fort, the shells having been first relieved of their combustible contents before receiving the candles.

By way of diversion, the group were favored with witnessing a few shot thrown from Fort Putnam into Charleston. The firing was replied to by Fort Simpkins on James Island, but without causing any damage. Shelling Charleston is now an every-day occurrence; and although the effect is none the less disastrous to the city, still the gun practice does not excite the curiosity that it once did among our troops.

RE-ENLISTMENTS.

In proof that the Government is fully sustained in the war policy it has adopted, it is only necessary to state that regiments whose term of service has expired are reenlisting in large numbers. In some instances, entire companies have reinstated the field. Out of 450 men of the Tenth Connecticut, nearly 300 have signified their readiness to continue in the service. The Thirty-ninth Illinois have shown an equally commendable spirit, and the same can be said of several other regiments. Too much praise cannot be given to these veteran troops, who, notwithstanding they have toiled two and three years in the noble work of restoration, are again willing to come forward and lend their aid in completing the task so auspiciously progressing.

MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS.

Chaplain HUSSEY, of the Volunteer Engineer regiment, gave the first of a series of Shakespearian lectures, last evening, at Masonic Hall. The attendance was quite large, consisting mainly of officers. The ability of Chaplain HUSSEY to discuss the subject in a manner classic and entertaining, is not doubted for a moment by any one who has had the pleasure of listening to him, and the reputation as a lecturer he has achieved at the North guarantees him a full audience wherever he is announced to speak. The lecture last evening the complete justice to the subject, and every one present expressed himself highly pleased with the manner in which it was treated. The proceeds are to be expended for the benefit of the regiment.

Surgeon W. A. SARRS, recently assigned to the Forty-seventh New-York regiment, arrived at Hilton Head on Monday last. His popularity traveled in advance of him, and when he touched the pier he was immediately surrounded by his friends, and conducted to the camping ground of the regiment. We speak knowingly when we say Surgeon SARRS could not have fallen into better hands.

On Sunday night, the fleet of Charleston was aroused at noticing what were first supposed to be torpedoes floating toward the vessels from the inner harbor, but which only proved to be portions of old wrecks that had probably been used in the line of obstructions. Signals were exchanged among the fleet, and preparations made for action; but, of course, under the circumstances, the fight was postponed.

In a day or two, Gen. GILLMORE intends removing his headquarters from Folly Island to Hilton Head. This is, by no means, to be considered as a retrograde movement. The Department, reaching, as it does, from the Northern end of Morris Island to the extreme Southern end of Florida, embraces hundreds of miles, and it will be seen at a glance that a grand central point, like Hilton Head, is required to establish a firm military policy along the entire line.

The following General Orders have a very important signification, and will be read with interest:

DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH,
HEADQUARTERS IN THE FIELD,
FOLLY ISLAND, S. C., Jan. 14, 1864.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 6.—The following order from the War Department is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

WAR DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 22, 1863.

Ordered: That Maj.-Gen. GILLMORE, commanding the Department of the South, be and he is hereby authorized:

First—To enlist and organize all the colored troops that can be recruited within his Department, the said enlistments to be in accordance with the rules and regulations of the service and of the War Department relating to the organization of colored troops, and such further orders as may from time to time be given by the Department.

Second—Gen. GILLMORE is authorized to appoint a Board for the examination of white persons to officer the regiments and companies so raised by him, and to make provisional appointments of the persons passed by said Board, and appointed by him, reporting their names to this Department for its approval, and if approved, such persons will be commissioned by the President, as in other cases of colored troops. He may also appoint a Mustering Officer, and have the officers and troops mustered in at such times as he may deem proper.

Third—The troops so raised may consist of infantry, cavalry, and artillery, and in such proportion as Gen. GILLMORE may deem most beneficial for the service; their pay and allowance to be in accordance with the Act of Congress, and the rules and regulations of the service respecting colored troops, but a bounty may be allowed, not to exceed the sum of $10, payable out of the fund for procuring substitutes, as in the case of recruits in the Department of Virginia.

Fourth—All other authorities for raising colored troops, within the Department aforesaid, shall be subject to the direction of Maj.-Gen. GILLMORE until further orders.

Fifth—That Gen. GILLMORE is authorized, under the foregoing regulations, to procure recruits from Key West, or in the States of Georgia, Florida and Alabama, not, however, so as to interfere with the engineer service at Key West.

Sixth—All the colored troops now in the Department of the South, or that may be recruited therein, or that shall be sent forward, may be organized in such brigades, divisions and corps as Gen. GILLMORE may deem most advantageous in the service, he making report to Maj. FORNEY, Chief of Bureau in the War Department for organizing colored troops.

Seventh—The colored troops to be called United States troops, and be numbered by regiments, in consecutive order, as organized.

By order of THE SECRETARY OF WAR,
E. D. TOWNSEND, Asst. Adj't-General.

By command of MAJ.-GEN. Q. A. GILLMORE.
ED. W. SMITH, Asst. Adj't-General.

Official: W. J. M. BURNS, Asst. Adj't. General.

Intelligence reaches me this morning of the loss of two naval officers who were present at the flag-raising at Wagner last Tuesday. They were the Executive officer and Paymaster of the monitor Capitoli. It was very dark when they took the small boat to return to the monitor, and it is feared they lost their course and were captured by the rebel pickets. The boat's crew shared the same fate. As yet nothing has been heard of the officers or crewmen. WHIT.

We have received files of Richmond papers up to the 15th inst., from which we take the following interesting extracts:

THE WAR IN TENNESSEE.

LONGSTREET'S ARMY.

From the Richmond Examiner, Jan. 8.

It is expected that LONGSTREET's forces will winter in their present position. His headquarters are at Russellville, and the lines of his cavalry extend to Morristown and Mossy Creek. It is said the army will be able to get sufficient supplies and an abundance of long forage in the Valley of the Chickasay and French Broad Rivers.

The position is in one of the most advantageous on the theatre of this war. It is on the flank of TAUNIS' army. It threatens the enemy's communications through Knoxville and Nashville. It is within thirty miles of Cumberland Gap. It is on the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad, which, we understand, will be completed to LONGSTREET's Headquarters in three weeks, and thus, in case of emergency, bring the Army of Tennessee within supporting distance of Richmond. It is, in short, the controlling position between LEE and JOHNSTON, and at the same time close enough to Kentucky for the easy invasion of that State whenever the signal may be given for such a movement.

We are pleased to be assured that the sufferings in LONGSTREET's command have been grossly exaggerated by reports. It is asserted that the soldiers in the Army of Northern Virginia have, at various times, (for instance, when the army came out of Maryland, after the battle of Sharpsburg,) been in much greater distress than the Tennessee troops. But few of the soldiers are actually barefoot, although many of them have their feet bound in moccasins. A large number of shoe-shops have been busily at work since in LONGSTREET's army, sufficient to provide for it during the Winter.

We hear one invariable story of the bad management and demoralization of our cavalry in the West. Many of the cavalrymen are rather freebooters and speculators than soldiers. It is said to be not unusual to see, in Tennessee, a cavalryman leading his beast laden with spoils like a sumpter mule, and flanked with sides of leather, &c. A reorganization of our entire cavalry force in the West has been recommended to the Government on the highest authority, and it is reported that the whole force will be united under BUCKNER.

A DIFFICULTY BETWEEN M'LAWS AND LONGSTREET.

From the Richmond Examiner.

An Atlanta paper gives a version of the difficulty heretofore referred to in these columns, between Gen. LONGSTREET and Gen. MCLAWS. It alleges that Gen. McLAWS received a peremptory order from Gen. LONGSTREET to proceed at once to Augusta and there report to the Department at Richmond. Gen. McLAWS made inquiry as to the cause of this order, when he was informed by Gen. LONGSTREET that he (Gen. McLAWS) had disapproved of the course pursued by himself ever since he left Chattanooga for Knoxville, and even all subsequent movements; that his disapproval of the Commanding General's movements was creating discussion, and, for the good of the service, he would relieve him from command.

JO. JOHNSTON'S ARMY.

The Atlanta (Georgia) Confederacy gives the following as the latest intelligence received of the military situation in Tennessee:

"Accounts from Dalton are all very nearly to the same purport. Gen. JOHNSTON has quietly assumed command of the forces, and, with his usual unostentatious style of procedure, is doubtless engaged in all which can be done. He is regarded by every one, in and out of service, with affectionate confidence, as a patriotic man of great abilities. The troops are gradually finding shelter in rude huts, which are going up around the town, although the inclemency of the weather defies much of comfort or good cheer. Dalton is the Valley Forge of the Western campaign. No advance or activity of movement is expected shortly. It is believed that the enemy is in no condition to fight, even if the condition of the roads permitted a forward movement. The weather is clear and very cold.

We have conversed with a gentleman just from Bristol. He informs us that the condition of the campaigns in East Tennessee is prosperous and hopeful. It is considered that BURNSIDE will not be able to hold his position at Knoxville. Our forces have completely cut off his communication with Cumberland Gap, and his troops are on short rations. At Chattanooga the enemy is also reported on short allowance, by parties recently out from that vicinity. On the lower Tennessee, bodies of cavalry seem to be organizing for the coming Spring campaign. Our scouts in the region of the Tennessee line are said to be well regulated."

THE RAID IN HARDY COUNTY.

Correspondence of the Richmond Enquirer.

CAMP NEAR NEWMARKET, Jan. 9, 1864.

We have just returned from a ten days' raid behind the enemy's lines. Our force consisted of a portion of FITZ LEE's cavalry division, under Gen. CHAMBLISS, and ROSSER's brigade, under Gen. ROSSER—all under the command of FITZ LEE.

FITZ LEE's division had already been reduced by his pertinacious, but ineffectual efforts to capture AVERELL, to but a moity of his proper number; while ROSSER's brigade had just achieved a successful tour around MEADE's army, and, as a matter of course, was greatly diminished. We started with about 1,100 men in all. It was raining when we started, and soon commenced snowing. Many consoled themselves for such an inauspicious beginning with the old adage that "a bad beginning makes a good end." We hoped against hope, and kept up light hearts, though at every step the weather and the roads grew worse. As we entered the mountainous regions, the snow became hail, and snow and rain, and they all mixed and froze as they fell. The roads were like sheets of glass, while the little mountain streams, that the road crossed and recrossed a thousand times, with their icy battlements and buttresses at every ford, presented barriers more formidable than large rivers.

It was impossible to get the artillery and the wagon train over the first mountain. It was as much as could be expected of a horse to transport himself up and down those icy inclined planes. So the wagon train and artillery, after waiting awhile, for more favorable weather, were sent back.

The second day the weather became worse, and on the third day it was no better. Many of the men, frost-bitten and frozen, fell out of ranks, and stopped at the farm-houses, waiting for a thaw. FITZ LEE, however, pushed on, after recruiting a day at Moorefield, in Hardy County, Va.

Fording the south branch of the Potomac, we entered the Moorfield Gap, in the Patterson Creek range of mountains. This range of mountains has acquired a sort of historical importance, from being regarded, by general consent, as the dividing line between Union and Secesh. All the gaps in the mountains, including pig-paths and highways, have been blockaded by the Yankees with falling timber, except those that they have garrisoned. Removing the obstructions which were found there, our column gradually succeeded in worming itself through this gap.

As the head of the column emerged and came in view of the Patterson Creek Valley, to the astonishment and delight of every one a train of forty wagons was discovered meandering "in slow length along." On it came, right into our ravenous jaws.

In the rear of the train marched an infantry guard of one hundred men. As soon as they passed our front, ROSSER's brigade darted down the mountain side after them, leaping fences and ditches in their course, and galloping, with headlong fury over the frozen swamps that filled the valley.

Every wagoner in the train could see ROSSER, with his brigade, dashing like a thunderbolt down the mountain side after them, with a war whoop that petrified to their very souls as it echoed and reechoed along the valley. Presto, change! and immediately, as if by the power of a magician, the unsuspecting train that was pursuing the even tenor of its way, became a surging, chaotic mass.

Driver after driver leaped from his post of duty and ran to the woods. The mules, however, in many cases did not abate their speed, but, as if shunning a fate that consigned them to the short rations of Dixie, redoubled their energy and refused to be halted. All the wagons were captured, and about sixty of the guard, who at first ran without firing, until they had taken a position on a hollow flanked by an impassable ice dam, and here, they made quite a stubborn resistance for a while.

That night evening General CHAMBLISS went to the creek a short distance, and, having invested a stockade fort of the enemy, garrisoned with twenty men, obtained its surrender.

The next morning we proceeded down the valley of Patterson's Creek, collecting all the cattle and horses that could be found—the Yankee parties at Williamsport having set fire to their fort and escaped to the mountains when we approached.

The next day we invested Burlington, where the Yankees had constructed a fort impregnable to an enemy armed with merely small arms.

Hereupon they set fire to their fort, and took to the woods. We succeeded, however, in capturing fifteen or twenty of them.

Gen. CHAMBLISS sent his cattle and disabled men toward Romney, and with the rest of his command, now reduced to little over 400 men, proceeded toward Ridgeville, where he encamped. The next morning, at 4 o'clock, we took up the line of march for New-Creek, but by the time we reached the top of Nooney Mountain, within seven miles of New-Creek, the weather became so intolerable that we turned back, and coming on through Romney, thence through gorges and over mountains of ice, toiling for several days, we crossed the valley.

The object of the expedition was, I believe, to get cattle. Six hundred of these and about 300 horses, 30 wagons and 300 mules—not to mention, about 400 Yankees—were the fruits of this expedition. When it is remembered what natural obstacles were encountered and overcome, what a Siberian lethargian spell of weather reigned during the whole trip, it will be a matter of surprise that the trip was made at all, without considering the importance of its results. Dr. JOHNSON said: "The wonder is not that bears dance so well, but that they dance at all." So it may truly be said of this expedition, that the wonder is not that it was done so well, but that it was done at all. BRUTUS.

GEN. MORGAN.

HIS RECEPTION IN RICHMOND.

On Jan. 8 Gen. MORGAN had a reception by the authorities at Richmond. Mayor MAYO welcomed him, and Gen. J. E. B. STUART made one of the speeches.

He spoke of his own and Gen. MORGAN's position in the service. Some people had gotten up the idea that they were rivals. If a desire to harm the enemy most and advance the Southern cause could be called rivalry, then he expected they were rivals to that extent. He was glad to know that the sleepless blade of the gallant Kentuckian would soon again be flashing over the enemy in the West, with greater power and terror to the enemy than ever. Speaking was not his forte, and not at all in his way. The field, and not the forum, was his place. But, with the citizens of Richmond could not expect a speech from him, he could not do less than to express the gratification he felt at the honor done the gallant MORGAN. He was worthy of that honor, and it was not unworthily bestowed.

Gen. GARDON, of North Carolina, was next called for, and followed in some remarks suggested by the occasion.

AN INTERVIEW WITH THE PRISONERS.

Gen. MORGAN made a visit to Libby Prison, which is thus described:

"Gen. MORGAN, on arriving up stairs, where the prisoners 'most do congregate,' was immediately conducted into the presence of the 'author of the Maine Liquor Law,' the veritable Brig.-Gen. NEAL DOW. An introduction took place, when MORGAN observed, with one of those inimitable smiles for which he is so noted, 'Gen. DOW, I am very happy to see you here; or, rather, I should say, since you are here, I am happy to see you looking so well.' DOW's natural astuteness and Yankee ingenuity came to his aid, and he quickly replied, without apparent embarrassment, 'Gen. MORGAN, I congratulate you on your escape. I assure you that I am glad that you did escape, but since you did, I am pleased to see you here.' The conversation then became general and lasted for one day, during the progress of which DOW admitted that his views of the South, its people and their treatment of prisoners of war had undergone a material change for the better in the last few months.

Gen. MORGAN also had an interview with the notorious Col. STAHNER, who had several days previous to his visit been released from close confinement for attempting to escape from prison, and restored to his old place among the other officers. It has been conjectured, by persons wise in reading the motives of men by their actions, that this man hoped, on his entrance into the prison, by taking the most ultra position on the questions dividing the North and South, to become the leader and host of his fellow-captives. If such was his desire, he has most signally failed, as it is known that he is by no means popular among them; on the contrary, quite the reverse. STAHNER is a tall, raw-boned, hump-chested, sandy-haired, big-whiskered, uncouth looking man, with arms swinging like the wings of a windmill in the doldrums. He has acquired a considerable quantity of disjointed information on a variety of topics, while pasturing in the literary fields of Yankee land. Knowing a little of everything, and not much of anything, has made him a free thinker and ready adherent of all the isms peculiar to his section. He does not, it is said, believe in a God or Devil, which is not at all wonderful, considering the locality from which he hails. Gen. MORGAN said to STAHNER, in his interview, with that individual, that it was his desire to ameliorate the condition of all the prisoners in our hands, and he would do so as far as lay in his power, despite the fact that some of his own men had been tied up by their thumbs and subjected to other cruelties abhorrent to human nature for endeavoring to escape. The interview between the two seemed to be mutually satisfactory.

AN APPEAL FROM MORGAN.

HEADQUARTERS MORGAN'S CAVALRY,
DECATUR, GEORGIA, Jan. 1, 1864.

SOLDIERS: I am once more among you after a long and painful imprisonment.

I am anxious to be again in the field. I therefore call on all the soldiers of my command to assemble at once at the rendezvous which has been established at this place.

If your country needs your services, the field of operation is wide and the future glorious, if we only deserve it.

Remember how many of your brave comrades are still repining in a felon's cell. They call loudly on you for help. They expect it of you. Will you disappoint them?

Come at once, and come cheerfully, for I want no man in my command who has to be sent to his duty by a Provost-Marshal.

The work before us will be arduous, and will require brave hearts and willing hands. Let no man falter or delay, for no time is to be lost. Every one must bring his horse and gun who can.

JOHN H. MORGAN,
Brig.-Gen. Provisional Army Confederate States.

Official:
R. A. ALSTON, Lieut.-Col. and Acting A. A. Gen.

REBEL RESOURCES.

A HOPEFUL VIEW.

From the Richmond Examiner, Jan. 13.

Amid much that is gloomy in our military affairs, we find at least one subject of congratulation in the fact that, during the past year, our supplies of arms and munitions, and our military material generally, have increased.

Arms of approved kinds are being made with more facility, at more places and in larger numbers than at any previous time. Very valuable additions to our supplies of arms have been made during the year by importations from abroad, and these have enabled the bureau promptly to repair the very heavy losses which were sustained in the disastrous campaign in Mississippi, in the manufacture of powder, balls, shell, &c., progress has been marked, and with some addition in the supplies of nitre from foreign sources, it is understood there will be no want of adequate supplies of superior quality. Special attention has been given to the distribution of these works in different portions of the Confederacy, so as not to leave our supplies dependent on single disasters. While not yet wholly independent in the supply of nitre, there has been, until very recently, marked increase in its production. That increase has, during the past year, nearly doubled from production. The temporary occupancy, by the enemy, of the districts of the country where the richest deposits of nitrous earth were found, has, for the present, diminished the production; but it is encouraging to know that the artificial sources of supply, in beds of nitrous earth, will soon begin to be available, and much more than supply the deficiencies which have resulted from the operations of the enemy.

The mining operations in iron, lead and coal have all been pushed forward with activity, in despite of all the embarrassments resulting from paucity of laborers and fluctuating prices, and the result has been, in each, more abundant production, and a better prospect of future sufficiency than we have yet enjoyed.

MEAT SUPPLIES.

From the Richmond Examiner, Jan. 13.

We learn that the commissary agents in different parts of the South are taking a census of stock, and are demanding all pork in excess of 150 pounds to each head in the family, but grades in proportion the probable quantity of pork which can be secured for the present use of the army, and to form an estimate, from the number of stock hogs and cattle, of the future resources of the country. The delivery of the bacon on foot is now discontinued by the Government agents. The loss of our beef-raising territory west of the Mississippi, by the fall of Vicksburgh and Port Hudson, reduced the supply of this article, and vigorous measures are needed to keep the troops in meat. The offal of the hogs, such as it is, goes to supply this deficiency, and is received and cooked in the rendering; much of the refuse from the slaughter-house is cannot be used by the troops is necessary for soap grease, soap being indispensable to the cleanliness, and hence to the health, comfort and self-respect of the soldiers; the lard is used as a substitute for bacon, and no portion of the hog is lost to the service. The slaughtering is not being done as contract, but is under the charge of an officer of the Government specially assigned to this duty.

Great economy is necessary in the use of our meat supplies. It has frequently been remarked that our people are the greatest consumers of meat that have existed in the world, either in ancient or in modern times. Owing to the profusion and abundance that have heretofore been in this country, no stint or limit has been put upon consumption of animal food; and as animal food is a stimulant, like all other stimulants, the indulgence increases the appetite. The bravest and hardiest soldiers that the world has ever seen fed principally upon bread; and, to modern Europe, the people and the armies, consume not one third portion of the animal food that is consumed on this continent in proportion.

NO CROPS IN VIRGINIA.

From the Richmond Examiner, Jan. 13.

We regret to learn that there is very little prospect of any considerable crop being made this year in several of the fertile counties in Southwestern Virginia. The largest farmers in this portion of the State—Campbell, Roanoke, Charlotte, Bedford, &c.—have pretty generally furnished substitutes and devoted their lands to the production of large quantities of meat, breadstuffs, vegetables and forage. In view of the late enactment rendering them again liable to military duty, and the consequent impossibility of attending to their plantations, these men have, as a rule, hired out their field hands to railroad or manufacturing companies, or sent them to the cities and towns to be there employed. No corn crop will consequently be made, and but comparatively a small extent of land has been put in oats or wheat. What little will be raised this year in these productive regions will principally be under the superintendence of the few old or disabled men, not fit for military service, and will hardly suffice for home consumption, leaving nothing for the support of the army, which has heretofore drawn abundant supplies of provisions and forage from these counties.

THE RAILROADS.

From the Richmond Examiner.

The principal railroads in the Confederacy are now seriously engaged in endeavoring to increase their stocks, and to provide for the contingencies of future service or loss. Under the delusive expectation of an early termination of the war, the railroad companies have, heretofore, relied almost wholly on their existing stock, and made but few efforts at supply or reparation. They scarcely husbanded their resources, which, under the exhausting demands made upon them, became greatly diminished. Of late, with more experience, a wiser prudence seems to guide their management. In different parts of the Confederacy iron is now being provided and rolled for machinery and the reconstruction and repair of locomotives and rolling stock. The Secretary of War has recommended that skilled mechanics be furnished from the army for some of the more delicate machinery needed by the railroads.

The railroad transportation is of incalculable importance to the Confederacy. Shut off from the sea, and with command of very few of its rivers, the Confederacy is dependent, almost wholly, on the railroads for communication and transportation.

From the Richmond Enquirer, Jan. 12.

The Senate, yesterday, passed the House bill, putting in the army all who have heretofore furnished substitutes. This (if the men proposed to be put in subsist) will curtail the extensive furloughing, the number of public institutions, whose names are "familiar as household words" to the public. In this category are embraced the railroads of Virginia, whose executive officers can now hardly keep them running in good order, by all the means at their command. All Virginia railroad men is nearly used up, and so are the men working them.

IMPRESSMENT.

From the Richmond Examiner, Jan. 7.

It appears that a certain Major FRANK RUFFIN and Commissary NORMOYLE have undertaken to improve the meats in the Richmond markets. The Commissary-General has been, heretofore, famous for his poultry and hen-roost robberies; but in this instance his lieutenant seems to have inaugurated and conducted the raid on the butchers' stalls. A resolution was introduced yesterday in Congress to remove NORMOYLE, and it is to be hoped that it will also effect the retirement of his whole robber band of tools and subordinates. It is most seriously to be hoped that some system will be effected to feed our armies without descending to the butcher's stalls, poultry-house and chicken-coops of Richmond for military subsistence.

THE REBEL CONGRESS.

A MEMORIAL FROM THE ARMY OF THE TENNESSEE.

On Dec. 22, the following memorial, signed by Gens. HARDEE, STEVENSON, CLEBURNE, BRECKINRIDGE, and nearly all the other officers in command of the Army of the Tennessee, was read in the Confederate House of Representatives:

To the Congress of the Confederate States:

In the existing condition of affairs, it is hoped your honorable bodies will pardon the variance from custom of addressing you from the army. It is done in no spirit of dictation, but in the conscientious conviction that the necessities of the country demand the voice and labor of all, and that delay, even for thirty days, in enacting proper measures, may make present disorders incurable, and the dangers of the moment omnipotent for any constructive good.

In our opinion, it is essential to retain, for the term of during the war, without reorganization, the troops now in service; to place in service immediately, for the same term, all other white males between sixteen and fifty years of age, able to perform any military duty; to provide for placing in service, at the discretion of the President, for the same term, all white males between fifteen and eighteen, and between fifty and sixty years of age; to prohibit substitutes; to prohibit exemption, except for the necessary civil offices and employments of the NATIONAL POLITICS.

State Regeneration Precedent to State Restoration.

So far as the bill prepared by Mr. ASHLEY of Ohio, Chairman of the House Committee on Territories, provides for carrying into effect the President's plan for loyal Governments in the insurgent States, its proposed enactments carry a look of thoroughness in details as well as of soundness in principle. It is no doubt an anomaly to recognize a small fraction of the freemen—or any fraction whatever less than a majority—as the governing constituency for an entire State; but it is one which is forced upon the Government by events and circumstances themselves so anomalous as to commend this measure as the nearest, among all debatable ones, to the spirit and intents of the Constitution. There is a wide and obvious, although commonly unnoticed distinction, between communities that subsist as States, in the sense commonly accepted among mankind, and such as have come into the condition and character of our United States. Any civilized people occupying and possessing an ascertained domain under an organized Government is, in the former sense, a State—as says Brabantio of Venice, in the play:

"Please it your grace, on to the State affairs."

The issues of the Convention of 1787, in the adoption of a new Government, dealt with these American States as sovereigns to elect, each for itself, whether to unite in it or not. When, in fact, the people, acting in and as States, elected to become one in a national Union under the Federal Constitution, and to surrender to the Union all those national powers and functions prescribed in the Constitution, the consolidation was, in the very nature, and was understood to be interminable—unless by revolution, or by action of the same majority of the whole which is competent to change, or even to subvert the Constitution itself. The States so further remained sovereigns than as to rights not expressly surrendered, according to the Constitution. From the rank of States, in the absolute sense, they had voluntarily receded, and had assumed the restricted, but more coveted functions and capacity of United States.

From these brief historical facts three simple conclusions, among others, follow incontrovertibly:

First—The absurdity of any State which represents the relation and obligations of a United State, claiming any rights whatever in that character—and of any one claiming for it, under the Constitution, political rights or privileges.

Second—That the allegiance of an insurgent State does not cease and determine together with its lost privileges.

Third—That Restoration to the Union cannot ensue simply upon a cessation of hostilities, whether that is the result of subjugation or of a voluntary return of the insurgent State to allegiance; but that—whatever natural rights of a State may be supposed to continue, or whatever constitutional rights derivable purely from allegiance—the franchise which belongs to United States distinctively cannot revert without the concurrence of the Union, expressed through Congress and coupled with such conditions, as to degree and time, as Congress shall find necessary to the public safety.

Neither of these conclusions can be disputed without contradicting the ideas of equity, order and law best established among men, whether relating to things human or to things divine. No man supposes that one contracting party can annul a mutual agreement in opposition to the consent of the others, or enjoy its advantages although he fails to fulfill its conditions; no casuist would maintain that the lost breach of covenant in marriage either is healed by an offered return to fidelity or that, otherwise, the offending party is entitled to a release from the relation; and hardly must that theology be which can assert the prerogative, in behalf of rebel angels, that either their allegiance must be dissolved or their celestial privileges held in reversion against an expected day of their submission.

The bill proposed by the Chairman of the House Committee goes immeasurably beyond the President's Proclamation in this, that, while the latter announces simply the conditions upon which the Executive will recognize and maintain certain Governments in the insurgent States as being, when formed, the only republican Governments for those States known to the Constitution, the former advances the same substantially as the conditions of Restoration, or what is frequently denominated Reconstruction—a term not strikingly accordant with the power and dignity of the American Union. It cannot too strongly be impressed upon the people how clearly the Proclamation describes its own object, and explicitly excludes what does not belong to the sphere of the President's executive functions. It reads thus:

"That this Proclamation is intended to present the people of the States wherein the national authority has been suspended and loyal State Governments have been subverted, a mode in and by which the national authority and loyal State Governments may be reestablished within said States, or in any of them;"—and again, "It may be proper to further say, that whether members sent to Congress from any State shall be admitted to seats constitutionally rests exclusively with the respective Houses, and not to any extent with the Executive."

Thus precisely does the President refer to the Houses of Congress the subject of restoration of the insurgent States to a participation in the national councils—even to the extent of the fundamental question whether those States under their new Governments should, for a time, be restored at all. But the bill of Mr. ASHLEY, after providing for provisional military Governments until such time as the President's plan for republican Governments shall have been carried into effect in the rebel States respectively, and after stringently amplifying the President's stipulations for a free Constitution, together with an irrevocable ordinance for the same, and also with an additional stipulation against any assumption of the Confederate debt, and against other abuses, goes on, in its seventh section, to enact as follows:

"And if a majority of legal votes shall be cast for said Constitution, the acting Governor shall certify the same to the President of the United States, together with a certified copy of said Constitution and ordinance, whereupon it shall be the duty of the President of the United States to issue his proclamation declaring the Government formed by such Constitution, and none other, to be the constituted Government of said State; and Senators and Representatives elected in compliance with the provisions of said Constitution and the laws of the United States, shall be entitled to appear in the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States from such State."

The apparent effect of this enactment, if the bill should become a law, must be to vest the full representation of the insurgent States, as it would stand but for the rebellion, in the new Governments, because, since these last are to be recognized as the (one and only Governments for the entire States, the last census of those States must, "in compliance with the laws of the United States," be the basis of representation. Respecting Presidential Electors the bill is not explicit, but the intent is—as the preamble in this, as in other particulars, plainly shows—to admit these new States, under their new Governments at once, as United States, so that the representation in the Electoral Colleges is to be admitted equally with the same in the Houses of Congress.

But, immediately as we stay outside of the President's avowed object, the inquiry gathers emphasis whether there are no safeguards to be insisted on, in the instance of these incipient States, not yet self-sustaining, but subsisting among, and exposed to be made fraudulent instrumentalities by an insidious population six times, or ten times more numerous. This is, in fact, the inquiry which, at the present stage of our national success, most arouses the anxiety of sensitive and reflecting minds; for, without such safeguards, it is easily apprehended that this bill, or any bill with the like purpose of immediate Restoration, may turn into an unexpected resuscitation of the rebellion—may even help it to a triumph, through guile, which it must fail to obtain by arms—and may thus repeat the story of the Trojan horse, not this time in poetry, but in a terrific reality. The worst ground of fear, in this instance, is not the possibility that deceptive combinations may obtain control of the popular conventions, at no greater expense than the hypocrisy of a pretended loyalty, and the perpetration of perjuries unchecked by a legal penalty. The real and amazing danger is (one respecting which it cannot be clear, at the present stage of affairs, that any enactments whatever could make the union secure; but one of which the author of this bill may be, for aught that appears, wholly unconscious. It is, that the like deceptive combinations, after even helping forward the new Governments to their full prescribed conditions, may then, at the elections ensuing upon the President's prescribed act of proclaiming those Governments finally and irreversibly established, get legal possession of their Legislatures, and so also, the control of their State representations in Congress, and in the Electoral Colleges. Can any true citizen of the Union contemplate with approbation the idea of any immediate legislation whatever, if such immediacy of legislation must involve the risk of giving to the master-spirits of the rebellion, even the remotest opportunity—may, even a hair-breadth chance, of a prize to them so inestimable—the risk of ultimately putting into their hands a national delegation, or some indentible part of it, comprising, in approximate numbers, twenty Senators, sixty Representatives, and eighty Electors.

Let it be granted that this picture is overwrought—this view of the perils of precipitate legislation over-colored and extreme. But the question recurs, what object or necessity there is for venturing upon perils at all. The President's plan steers clear of them, while it also meets every present requirement. It is, in fact, debatable whether immediate restoration, in its mildest degrees, could eventuate in anything better than an incumbrance, dragging a danger in the wake of those measures which, under the President's executive wisdom and cautious regulation, offer the most ready means to revive the smouldering embers, in the revolted States, of an almost extinguished loyalty, and to supply in each the nucleus and germ of State regeneration. And what does Congress require, at present, or expect, from the counsels of men who, perhaps, will have but just thrown down rebellion, and newly declared from treason to accept an amnesty? And, when it almost baffles the skill of our rulers to deal with events as they arise, why should legislators pledge their action beforehand respecting exigencies that are anticipated merely, and, therefore, imperfectly understood?

But if the extension which this bill proposes from mere State regeneration to immediate restoration, were less exceptionable on the score of public safety, it would still imply such an infringement of constitutional principle as ought to put this particular enactment out of consideration. For no element of our republican institutions is more definite and fundamental than a fixed basis of representation, in proportion to the ascertained population represented. Quite in sympathy with the Constitution is the President's pledge to recognize and maintain Governments, organized within the rebellion, upon his principles, as the sole republican Governments for the entire domains respectively. But neither the President nor Congress constitutionally can, under a fiction that such Governments cover the entire insurgent population, recognize them in Congress with representations ten times disproportioned in fact—or even at all disproportioned—to the constituted basis for just representation—and, it should be added, equally disproportioned, in this instance, to the taxes those Governments will pay. And—the Constitution aside—let the inquiry be here repeated and by every reader intensely pondered what there is in masses newly emerged, in part, from a tacit and inoperative loyalty, and, in a greater proportion still, from a sympathy with secession, to commend them, on the instant, to legislative or to electoral privileges,—and especially to privileges in excess of the parallel rights enjoyed by freemen in the sturdily loyal States. Who can point to any valid precedent for holding a repentant treason and a convalescent loyalty at a premium, as seems now to be proposed, above a steadfast obedience and fidelity?

It is probable that, in the anguish of the conflict which the proposed infringement of our representative equality would most surely create, so soon as its results began to develop themselves, the originators and supporters of such an enactment would struggle, as for life, to maintain that this seventh section must be restricted, by interpretation, to a constitutional operation; but they must do it against the antagonism of an entire political party insisting upon the law as valid until duly adjudicated otherwise.

Congress is not merely justified—it ought to feel itself trembingly invoked, not to be pressed by clamor, or by sophisms, or even by an eagerness for the reestablishment of the Constitution at once over the revolt, into any step which is not both comprehended, in its remote effects, and required by exigencies which have become matters of fact, and are thoroughly understood. The rebellion has left this Union free to adopt any course for its own preservation not repugnant to natural justice or to national law. Why should legislators hesitate to proceed upon the plain maxim that State Regeneration ought, of necessity, to precede State Restoration? The most latitudinarian view of our institutions might show that, antecedently to political equality, the anticipated new Governments should have come, at least, to the stability of established realities, and to the strength and population of the smaller States now represented. State Regeneration—the primal phase of this great experiment—is what has been taken in hand by the President. His plan is simple, hopeful, vast and constitutional. It pledges him to nothing beyond his executive powers, and he has not called for any new legislation. This is not to say that any legislation in the same direction would be superfluous; but it does strongly suggest that this primal work of creating new Governments ought to have an hearing unembarrassed by the claims of those Governments before they exist, by provisions or discussions concerning the terms of their full reception into the Union. The Territorial Bill here commended does, so far as it touches provisional Government, and State Regeneration is at once statesmanlike in its proposed enactments, progressive, even beyond the Proclamation itself, and vigorously responsive to the public pulse for free Constitutions. But, notwithstanding, like the old Greek prodigy which stood with every aspect of severe piety pleasing to the gods, this holds room enough in its cavernous seventh section for all the politic bands of rebeldom to enter and lie concealed. If the popular prestige of such a bill shall persuade loyally constituted Committees of the Houses to introduce it, in limine, that will certainly suggest a probability that the Houses may pass it to a standing in the citadel of the national laws—and not improbably, with the abundant plaudits of Union-saving minds:

"Sacra canunt funemque manu contingere gaudent."

To a right popular understanding of our present political duties it is essential to hold up clearly to view the entire distinction between those ideas which have been herein denominated by the terms, State Regeneration and State Restoration. There is dominant in a multitude of minds an over-fond and delusive logic, which derives its conclusions from the feelings rather than from a comparison of facts with known truths, and which is open to almost any wild theories affecting a State. If it shall be mad enough to assist into law and practice certain of the prevalent notions concerning the rights of States, insurgent though they be, it may succeed in proving how clearly a State cannot, as the phrase is, "commit suicide," but at the expense of also proving how nearly an entire Union can.

NEW BOOKS.

A HISTORY OF THE WORLD.—From the Earliest Records to the Present Time. By PHILIP SMITH, B.A., one of the principal contributors to the "Dictionaries of Greek and Roman Antiquities, Biography, and Geography," in readable prose and handsomely well-illustrated. 8vo. New-York: D. APPLETON & Co.

This is the commencement of an important enterprise. Year by year, the want of a universal history, general and comprehensive, not too unwieldy for ordinary use or consultation, nor yet too brief and barren, not a mere skeleton of names and dates, but a living organization, connecting the past with the present, linked into unity by its subject, man, is more and more felt. In the same proportion the difficulty of the task increases, and has had an effect so repelling on scholars that since the great English Universal History in sixty volumes, a vast monument of undigested learning, now about a century old, our literature and that of France has nothing to show in this field but meagre and unsatisfactory compilations like those of ANQUETIL, SEGUR, and TYTLER. Germany is richer in this department, and the works of MÜLLER and VON RUMOHR have been transferred to English; but though more scientific in treatment they are hardly up to the modern standard of knowledge. The way is, therefore, in a measure, clear for Dr. SMITH, whose connection with the well known classical "dictionaries" is a guarantee that no resources of scholarship will be wanting to the execution of this work. His plan embraces three divisions, in which it is proposed to review the annals of our race: "Ancient History," sacred and secular, from the creation to the fall of the Roman Empire, A. D. 476, in two volumes; "Mediæval History," civil and ecclesiastical, to the taking of Constantinople by the Turks, A. D. 1453, two volumes, and "Modern History," to our own times, in four volumes. The first installment just issued includes Book I. "The Patriarchal Age and the Origin of the Nations from the Creation to the Exodus," entire, and the first chapter of Book II. "The Great Monarchies of the East from the Earliest Egyptian Traditions to the Reign of Darius Hystaspis." "The History of Egypt to the Shepherd's Invasion." The treatment of the antediluvian and patriarchal period is, of course, based on the Scripture narrative. The results of the latest ethnological and linguistic research are given in the chapter, "The Division of the Nations;" and the "Ancient History of Egypt" is a careful summary of the knowledge derived from hieroglyphic interpretation, compared with the accounts of classic authors. To form a judgment from this portion of the work, it is well calculated to fulfill the writer's object, which is to relate the history of the world in the spirit indicated in his own words: "Amidst all the severing forces of climate, color, language, interest and animosity, our race forms a complete whole—one in its origin, one even in its true interest—it is destined to be one in its final consummation, and it is this that gives a unity to its history."

CHRONICLES OF THE SCHONBERG COTTA FAMILY. By Two of Themselves. 12mo. New-York: M. W. DODD.

This work is a specimen of the class of imaginary diaries and autobiographies that has been so successfully cultivated by the authoresses of Lady Willoughby's Diary, The Household of Sir Thomas More, Mary Powel, &c. The Schonberg Family is published anonymously, and we are not acquainted with the writer's name, though it is understood to proceed from the pen of a lady, and it is unquestionably worthy to be ranked with the above-mentioned books by Mrs. RAYNOUD and Miss MARTINEU. Indeed, there seems something peculiarly attractive to the feminine intellect in this style of writing; all the delicate female tact finds ample room for exercise in the adaptation of the supposititious narrator to the ideas and circumstances fitting to his time and position. The Chronicles of the Schonberg Family is an attempt to reproduce the era of the Lutheran Reformation in Germany, as it was vividly realized in a domestic circle of the period, brought by circumstances into actual contact with the master-spirits of the movement. The Schonbergs are represented as a family whose ancestors were expelled from Bohemia as disciples of JOHN HUSS, amongst whom LUTHER, "the Great Doctor" himself, was domesticated, and lived familiarly, like one of their own cousins. It is a difficult thing to put words into the mouth of men like LUTHER, MELANCTHON, &c., that shall be appropriate and worthy of them, but such ingenious use has been made of LUTHER's sermons, letters, table talk, &c., that no sense of incongruity is felt, and the gentle pietistic tone of the writers suits well with our conception of what would be natural under the conditions implied. It is, in short, the history of the Reformation from the standpoint of the family, instead of being (as it is usually) related as an event of the largest national and European interests. It is needless to say how much the story gains in attraction viewed in this light, and how forcibly the progressive series of great events is brought home to the reader through the medium of the simple-hearted chroniclers who recognize with growing delight the new movement of the truths for which their fathers suffered, and were driven from home and kindred. We evidently have the writer that might give variety and [illegible] to the narrative. Taken in connection with [illegible] (just published,) it shows that an increasing interest in the period is gradually spreading, and demands books of more life and mettle than is found in the dry bones of ecclesiastical history as usually written.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE PRISONERS AT FORT LAFAYETTE.

Military Commission for the Trial of Palmer and others.

Gen. DIX caused the following Special Order to be promulgated yesterday afternoon:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE EAST, NEW-YORK CITY, Jan. 19, 1864.

SPECIAL ORDER, No. 15.—Pursuant to instructions from the War Department, dated Jan. 18, 1864, a Military Commission is hereby appointed to examine and investigate the cases of persons arrested and detained at Fort Lafayette, New-York Harbor, and Fort Warren, Boston Harbor, other than prisoners of war and convicts.

The Commission will report the facts together with their recommendations in each case, to the General commanding the Department, and military charges as may be sent before them for trial from these headquarters.

Detail for the Commission: Col. MANNAS S. HOFF, Third United States cavalry; Major F. S. DAVY, Fourth United States infantry; Capt. ROYAL S. FRANK, Eighth United States infantry; Major JOHN A. BOLLES, A. D. C., Judge Advocate.

The Commission will meet at Fort Lafayette, New-York Harbor, at 10 o'clock A. M., on Tuesday, Jan. 19, 1864, or as soon thereafter as practicable, taking up the cases of persons confined in that post. Special instruction for the guidance of the Court are herewith inclosed.

By command of Maj.-Gen. JOHN A. DIX.
[illegible] Commanding Department of the East.

The cases to be tried by the Court constituted as above, will include those of PALMER, BENNETT and others, implicated in running goods through the blockade, or conniving at breaches of both the revenue and military laws.

The action of Gen. DIX, as shown by the above order, was foreshadowed by an article in the TIMES of last week.

Tragedy in Fifth-Avenue.

A GENTLEMAN MORTALLY SHOT BY A BURGLAR—COURAGE OF THE VICTIM'S WIFE.

A remarkable burglary was committed about 2 o'clock on Sunday morning. The premises of Mr. CHARLES WALLIS, situated on the southwest corner of Fifth-avenue and Forty-fifth-street, were entered by burglars. The thieves effected an entrance through a window on the first floor, opening on Forty-fifth-street. Two or three servant girls occupied rooms through which the robbers passed. The girls were awakened by the noise, but their fears kept them quiet, and they allowed the robbers to pass on to the room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. WALLIS. One of them entered the room, and began to search the pockets of Mr. WALLIS' pantaloons for money. Mrs. WALLIS was awakened by the noise, and, raising herself in bed, discovered, by means of a dimly burning gas-light, what was going on. She promptly and as coolly as possible inquired what he was doing in the room.

The burglar instantly drew a navy revolver, pointed it at her head, and told her that if she made the least noise he would blow her brains out. The heroic woman was not to be thus terrified. Although repeatedly warned that her life and that of her husband would be shortened if she made any noise to awaken Mr. WALLIS, who was sleeping at her side, she did not heed the threat. On the contrary, she aroused him from his slumbers as speedily as possible. As Mr. WALLIS arose in his bed, the burglar, true to his threat, pointed his pistol at the victim's head and fired. The ball entered on the right side of his nose, just below the eye, and lodged somewhere in his head. The surgeons who are in attendance upon him were unable to find its location up to a late hour in the evening. The wound is a very serious one, and little or no hopes are entertained of his recovery. The burglar, after firing the pistol, hastily retreated through the window by the way he entered. As he was passing out his accomplice, who was keeping watch on the outside, fired another pistol, but fortunately this shot did no harm. It was doubtless fired for the purpose of intimidating such of the inmates as might be disposed to give the alarm.

Mrs. WALLIS, when called upon yesterday by the reporter, said that about two years ago a burglar entered the same mansion, while the family were asleep, and stole $100 from the pocket of Mr. WALLIS, with which he made his escape. From all the testimony in her possession she is confident that he is the same man who shot Mr. WALLIS on Sunday morning. The latter is a native of Germany and is a very respectable citizen of the Nineteenth Ward.

City and County Taxes for 1864.

Comptroller BRENNAN having at last sent in the long-looked for City Budget, and the County Budget having preceded it in a public presentation, an approximation to what will be the figures of the Tax Levy for 1864, may be made with a degree of closeness sufficient to indicate to tax-payers what their obligations in the tax-paying line will amount to this year. The County Budget, submitted to the Supervisors in December, is before their Committee on Annual Taxes, and foots up over $5,000,000. The City Budget was sent in to the Board of Aldermen on last Friday, and was referred to their Finance Committee. Both budgets were presented in brief form, so as to exhibit to the City and County authorities the Comptroller's estimates at the earliest practicable moment, while the usual details showing the authority for the expenses included in the estimates and the bases of the respective footings, and which involve a vast amount of labor, care and research to prepare, were yet incomplete. All of this material is yet to be spread before the Supervisors and Common Council. That relating to the City comprises about two hundred pages of printed matter—more than was ever before compiled; while that relating to the County is quite as voluminous. Nearly the whole of this information has been put in proper form for publication, and much of it is in the hands of the printers. The indexes are also quite advanced, so that the whole will be in readiness to lay before the respective Boards in the course of two or three weeks. The Comptroller and his assistants are working upon it without regard to time or regularity of hours, and are anxious to have it off their hands, but not until it is as thoroughly complete as they can make it. The two documents, when finished and printed, will be most interesting glossaries to the Comptroller's estimates, giving an insight to City and County affairs and management with more directness and fulness than could be obtained from the closest analysis and condensation possible to be made of the annual reports of all the departments. It is probable that neither the Supervisors or the Common Council will make any appropriation till these explanatory reports to the budgets come to hand.

The City budget foots up over $8,000,000. The two budgets, as presented by the Comptroller, show an aggregate of $13,500,000. The estimates for the City as has heretofore been noticed in the TIMES, are low, and probably will be increased and added to by the Common Council and the Supervisors, to say nothing of the Legislature, to an extent making a grand total of $13,000,000. Deducting from this aggregate amounts which the Comptroller estimates as derivable from the General Fund accounts of City and County, and the surplus revenues of the sinking fund for the payment of interest on the City debt, which in all amount to about $1,300,000, there is left as the probable sum to be raised by tax, $12,700,000.

The tax levy for 1863 was upward of $12,000,000, and imposed a rate of a fraction over two per cent on the valuation of the real and personal estate to realize it. What the valuations will be this year is impossible yet to say, even approximately. They have all been made, and on the 15th inst. the Tax Commissioners spread the books upon their counters for the inspection of the tax-payers. There the books will remain, undergoing the scrutiny of property-owners and such assistance as the Commissioners may, in their judgment, deem proper should take place, after hearing complaints of parties concerned, and who think their property has been improperly assessed, till the close of April, when the books will be footed, and the figures submitted to the Supervisors. Presuming that the valuations will not be less than last year's, it may be set down as very nearly correct that the rate of taxation for 1864 will be two and a half per cent. The estimates in the Comptroller's Budget, which are low, and those which are likely to be increased, will be acted on at an early day.

Naval Movements.

EXTRA CHARGES FOR IRON-CLAD MECHANISM.—In compliance with orders from the Navy Department, Rear-Admiral GARDNER has appointed a Board of officers to observe, for the purpose of investigating the justice of the charge made by iron-clad contractors for extra charges in altering armored vessels. The Admiral states that they have been put to the expense of details of expensive alterations in vessels for following the original plans of which they contracted. Several officers connected with the financial depot in this City are on the Board, and it is probable that the contractors will carry their point, as there seems to be no disposition on the part of the Government or its officers to deny the facts stated.

The most important alterations have recently been made in the plans of the twenty-four-foot draft vessels-of-war now the subject of experiment at different shipyards in the country. The nature of these alterations it would not be proper to divulge.

ADDITION OF A SPLENDID SHIP TO THE NAVY.—For several years the line-of-battle ship Franklin was lying at the Navy-yard at Portsmouth, N. H., in progress of conversion from a sailing vessel to a steamer. Work commenced on her for five or six years, and it was feared that she would never be finished. Some months ago, however, the present Navy Department resolved to finish the work, and sent orders to the commanding officer of that Navy-yard to have it executed with promptness and without delay. The ship is now ready for sea, and it is said will be reported fit for active service on the 10th of February. The Government has changed her name to the New-Hampshire. This is the famous vessel that OMER PASHA (Rear-Admiral of the Turkish Navy) and suite, traveled in all the way from Washington to Kittery, in 1860, to visit that place upon the invitation of the Maine and New-Hampshire Senators. The Constructing Engineer attached to the Admiral's suite, as well as the Admiral himself, pronounced it the best model and most beautiful specimen of naval architecture they ever saw. The cost of the conversion has been very large, probably as much as $300,000.

THE BLOCKADE OF WILMINGTON.—The telegraphic dispatches of the press have alluded to a statement furnished by Admiral LEE to the Navy Department, relative to the number of blockade-runners captured off Wilmington since July 12, 1863. The following is a correct table:

July 12.—Kate; chased, beached, hull rescued.
24.—Merrimac; captured.
Aug. 10.—Hebe; chased, beached and destroyed.
Sept. 23.—Juno; captured.
15.—Arabian; chased and went to pieces on bar.

Nov. 4.—Margaret and Jessie; captured.
9.—Robert E. Lee; captured.
9.—Ella and Anna; captured.
10.—Ella; captured.
11.—Cornubia; captured.
21.—Banshee; captured.
Dec. 7.—Ceres; beached and partially destroyed.
12.—Beauregard; chased, beached and destroyed.
20.—Antonica; chased, beached and destroyed.
Jan. 2, 1864.—Bendigo; beached.
6.—Dove; chased, beached and destroyed.

Letter from the President in Regard to the Death of the Most Rev. Archbishop Hughes.

The following letter, on behalf of the President, was received by the Very Rev. Administrator of the Diocese:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, Jan. 12, 1864.

To the Very Rev. Wm. Starrs, Administrator of the Diocese of New-York:

VERY REVEREND AND DEAR SIR: The President of the United States has put into my hands the invitation to the funeral obsequies of the late Archbishop Hughes, with which he was favored by you.

While it was impossible for him to accept the invitation, he was nevertheless earnestly desirous to find some practicable mode of manifesting the sorrow with which he received intelligence of that distinguished Prelate's decease, and his sympathy with his countrymen, and with the religious communion over which the deceased prelate, in their great bereavement. I have, therefore, on his behalf, to request that you will make known in such manner as will seem to you most appropriate, that having formed the Archbishop's acquaintance in the earliest days of our country's present troubles, his counsel and advice were gladly sought, and continually received by the Government on those points which his position enabled him better than others to consider.

At a conjuncture of deep interest to the country, the Archbishop, associated with others, first strengthened the nation's service more, with all the loyalty, fidelity and practical wisdom which, on so many other occasions, illustrated his great ability for administration.

Humbly hoping that the loss which the Church and the State have sustained in the removal of the Head of your Archdiocese may, through the blessing of God, be repaired, so that what has been an unspeakable gain to him may not be a permanent cause of sorrow to them, I have the honor to be,

Respectfully, your obedient servant,
WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

An Attempt at Kidnapping.

On Saturday morning at about 10 o'clock, as Col. D. T. VAN BUREN, Assistant Adjutant General of the Department of the East, was passing Lafayette Hall, the headquarters of Gen. SCOTT's recruiting depot, he saw an intoxicated man struggling in the hands of a runner named COLLAR, who was endeavoring to drag him into the hall. Upon inquiring into the matter, the man said Col. VAN BUREN that COLLAR was dragging him inside, to enforce him to enlist, but he did not want to do anything of the kind. Upon hearing this Col. VAN BUREN gave orders for the man's release, and wrote a letter to Gen. SCOTT's condemning such practices, to which was returned the following answer:

LAFAYETTE HALL, NEW-YORK, Jan. 15, 1864.

Col. D. T. Van Buren, A. A. General Department of the East:

COLONEL: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of this date in regard to the arrest of a person that was ill treating a citizen. I have discharged the person with a reprimand, and at the same time informing him that I would inflict the necessary stress to have him sent to Fort Lafayette if he was apprehended here again.

I am very glad that my attention was called to the matter, as I am anxious that all such abuses should be remedied.

I am, Colonel, very respectfully yours,
F. B. SPINOLA, Brig.-Gen. Vols.

Case of John B. Holmes Tried for Homicide Committed Two Years ago.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.—BEFORE JUSTICE LEONARD.

The Court opened, yesterday, at 11 o'clock and commenced the trial of JOHN B. HOLMES indicted, for manslaughter in the first degree in killing a policeman in 1854. The prisoner lived in Greenwich-street, near Morris, and on the night of the 20th of November, 1854, some disturbance took place in the vicinity of his residence. Several arrests were made, and among others the prisoner was taken in custody by Officers GOURLEY and BRENNAN. He made some resistance and, it is alleged, drew a knife and stabbed Officer GOURLEY inflicting a wound from the effects of which he died. Prisoner was tried at the Court of Sessions in 1854, before Judge RUSS, but the Jury failed to agree. Since then he has been in the State Prison on a conviction for another offence, and he is now again brought to trial for the first crime after ten years have elapsed. A. OAKEY HALL, Esq., appeared for the people, and Ex-Recorder SMITH for the prisoner.

Jacob G. Smith, sworn for the prosecution, testified to being present on the night of the Killing; to seeing the prisoner in the hands of the officer; saw what appeared to be a knife, and saw Gourley fall just as prisoner broke away from the policeman.

Ex-Alderman Brown sworn for the prosecution, testified to being with the last witness on the night in question, and to the facts of the case as sworn to by him.

Court of General Sessions.

BEFORE JUDGE RUSSELL.

ABRAHAM T. RUSSELL, recently appointed by Gov. SEYMOUR to fill the vacant City Judgeship, took his seat on the bench for the first time yesterday.

HOSEA MURPHY plead guilty to an attempt at grand larceny, and was remanded for sentence.

ELEAZARS GRANT plead guilty to a similar offence, and was sent to the penitentiary for one year.

JULIA CORNELIA was tried for grand larceny and acquitted.

DANIEL WILSON was tried and convicted of grand larceny, but by consent of the District-Attorney, he was discharged upon condition of his enlisting in the U. S. Army.

The Arrest for Contraband Trading.

THE CASE OF LEWIS JAMES OLMSTEAD.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, LEWIS J. OLMSTEAD, who was arrested some two weeks ago for contraband trading, made his appearance at the Marshal's Office, having prepared an elaborate statement which he claims will completely exonerate him from all charges of being now engaged in illegal traffic. He was attended up by his counsel, Mr. GEO. WILLIAMS, who promises, when his client's innocence is established, serious consequences to those who caused his arrest. Owing to the absence of Surveyor ARNAVS, the case was not reached, and was adjourned till Tuesday, this afternoon.

Masonic Lecture.

The third in a course of Masonic Lectures was delivered, last evening, before Montauk Lodge No. 26, F. and A. M., at their hall in Brooklyn, by L. W. JOHN W. SIMONS, Past Grand Master of the State of New-York.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the hall was well filled with a most respectable and appreciative audience, among whom were many ladies. R. W. Bro. SIMONS occupied over an hour in the delivery of his address, and the subject, "What is to be done, and who is to do it?" was very ably treated, engaging the entire attention of his audience, and affording them evident satisfaction.

Lieut.-Gen. Scott and Correspondents.

Lieut.-Gen. SCOTT's third time entreats the forbearance of correspondents. He still receives thrice the number of letters he can read, and a multitude more than he can answer. To open applications for enlistments alone, he finds, commanding though it is long since he answered one. And he hopes to be pardoned, for stating that his observations on men and events sometimes misrepresented by letter writers he has not seen.

Card from Mr. Richard Busteed.

No. 128 MADISON-AVENUE, NEW-YORK, Jan. 17, 1864.

TO THE PUBLIC:

The newspapers of yesterday and to-day contain a rebel correspondence, in which my name occurs. I cannot admit that it is necessary to justify myself against any imputation of disloyalty to the Government of the United States, because, whatever may be thought of me, by friend or foe, no one will deny that I have been outspoken, and some might say, not sufficiently guarded in the expression of my opinions. No one knows than I desire to prevent the difficulties which resulted in the present rebellion; I always contended, strenuously, for justice toward the men of the South, and never failed to aid in any struggle for their constitutional rights, but if is not unbecoming for me to say that when a crisis came against the Union presented itself in armed force, I was one of the first to declare my unconditional loyalty to our Government, and to expose and confound the doctrine of universal emancipation. But in the days of peace and concord I had acquaintances, and clients, and friends, some of whom abandoned our cause and myself. Among the number of those were Mr. LAMAR and Mr. TOWNSEND. For Mr. LAMAR I had business of importance (one suit alone involving $45,000) to transact, and with Mr. TOWNSEND my intercourse was pleasant and social. The rebellion broke out, and strange developments exhibited themselves. Not only private citizens, but officers of the army and navy, of high position and repute, appeared amongst the enemies of the Union. The relations between us and those who left us were not at once ended. We did not know who of the South had resolved to assist in the wicked assault upon our country.

In August, 1861, the son of Mr. L. Q. C. LAMAR, (formerly President of the Bank of the Republic in this City,) addressed me a letter, revealing the plans, capacity and designs of the rebels. I hesitated as to the disposition which I should make of it. Written communications between gentlemen are regarded as sacred, and to expose them is properly considered a base proceeding; but upon reflection I deemed it my duty, as a loyal American citizen, to make the Government acquainted with the contents of this letter, and I sent the original to Gen. GEORGE B. MCCLELLAN the day after I received it. I have the acknowledgment of the receipt of the letter through his aid-de-camp, with the General's "best thanks." This letter was written in regard to business exclusively professional, which I had in charge for Mr. LAMAR; but he thought proper, after disposing of that subject, to give me information, which I deemed important for our army to possess, and so I made it known to the General who then had command of our forces.

I do not know what he meant by the "message" which the intercepted correspondence says was in his delivered to me by Mr. TOWNSEND. I am sorry I cannot gratify the curious or inform myself on the point. But whatever it may have been, no one will imagine that it would have injured me to receive it, however its authorship might have prejudiced the person who sent it.

In conclusion let me say that while I abhor rebels and traitors, I am bound in justice to Mr. LAMAR and Mr. TOWNSEND to assert that in all their intercourse and correspondence with me, they never exhibited any quality or characteristic unbecoming loyal American gentlemen, until the letter was received which I sent to Gen. MCCLELLAN.

I would not have written so long an explanation, if I had nothing to meet but cowardly insinuations against my patriotism, but my nomination for an honorable office is shortly to be acted upon by the Senate of the United States, and in certain quarters those who have never supported our Government during the rebellion are making insidious and adroit efforts to have me defeated. Now I would I seek publicity to justify my course even if I supposed that a body of gentlemen so august as compose that Senate would give ear to the malignant opposition I have to encounter, but I confess I earnestly desire to enjoy the confidence and esteem of the community in which I have lived from my boyhood.

RICHARD BUSTEED.

Tenant Liable for Damage to Premises Leased by Him.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Justice Barbour.

Thomas Marion vs. Roderick W. Cameron.—The plaintiff is the owner of the premises No. 132 East Seventeenth-street, in this City, and on the 15th of July, 1859, he leased said premises to the defendant. By the terms of the lease defendant was to have possession of the house and the use of the furniture for the space of nine and a half months, paying a monthly rent for the same of $166 60. When the lease should expire the damage to the furniture, carpets, walls, &c., was to be appraised by Mr. John D. Hughes, of Brooklyn, and whatever award he made was to be paid by Mr. Cameron. Defendant vacated the premises on the 1st of May, 1859, and shortly after Mr. Hughes examined the house and furniture, and estimated the damage they had received during the occupancy of defendant at $750. Mr. Cameron refused to pay this, and plaintiff brought this suit to recover the amount claimed. Case still on.

Owens, Gray & Owens for plaintiff; Mr. Blossom for defendants.

The Winslow Will Case.

AN IMPORTANT AND INTERESTING LAW SUIT.

This important case, involving the rights of parties to a million and a half of dollars, is now on trial at the Superior Court, Bridgeport, before Judge MCCURDY and a jury, and is daily exciting the attention of the public, as well from the facts disclosed as from the sympathy felt for the parties.

The object of the trial is to test the validity of the will of the late RICHARD H. WINSLOW, long a member of the well-known banking house of WINSLOW, LANIER adjourn of Robert, stating that he had no intention of his to disconcerted, under advice of counsel, the witness. Mr. Dinkel said that result his witness, stating that he had then advised the witness.

Mr. Cram thought the witness did been treated with respect, with. He had committed a flagrant offence, and he had had his order to show cause. This was not an ordinary case. These parties were before witnesses of this Court, and it could do the high of counsel advising the witness to give information of the Court. Mr. Mallet-Prevost, of counsel, said, of the merits of this matter, the witness was a question of the right of power of the Court to punish for the contempt. He maintained that there was no power the grounds under which these proceedings were had in a penitent case. There was nothing in it that authorized the Court to commit for a contempt after the witness had been brought up, and there was nothing left bringing it within the provisions of the Revised Statutes.

Mr. Cram said that the power of the Court to punish for contempt was found at Common Law the Court could not exist a moment if it had not this power. Mr. Cram said he had no malice; he did not wish to punish Hobson, he only wanted his evidence and if he was ready to give it now they would be glad to hear him.

His Honor took the papers and said that he would render a decision this morning.

Monday, Jan. 18—P. M.

The Weekly Averages of the Banks of the City of New-York on Saturday, Jan. 16, 1864, present in the aggregate the following changes from the previous exhibit of Jan. 9:

Decrease in Loans ..... $[illegible]
Increase in Specie ..... [illegible]
Increase in Circulation ..... [illegible]
Decrease in Undrawn Deposits ..... 4,[illegible]

Including the Clearing-house operations of the week, which show the inter-exchanges between the Banks, and including also the Sub-Treasury balance at the close of the week. The following is the general comparison with the previous exhibit, and also with the movement this time last year:

	Jan. 16, 1864.	Jan. 9, 1864.	Jan. 17, 1863.
Capital	69,129,600	69,129,600	60,129,600
Loans	178,[illegible]	178,[illegible]	172,[illegible]
Specie	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Circulation	9,241,415	9,008,162	8,022,946
Gross Deposits	119,[illegible]	116,[illegible]	[illegible]
Exchanges	59,411,809	60,[illegible]	64,[illegible]
Undrawn	19,[illegible]	19,311,048	13,[illegible]
In Sub-Treasury	13,774,[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

The violent changes in the items of Loans and Deposits on the present Bank return result from the adjustment of the new Legal Tender 5 per cents delivered by the Treasury last week, and subsequently employed to some extent as Currency in place of Loans by a portion of the Banks. The Specie line is remarkably steady, considering that $1,400,000 in Gold was paid in by the merchants for customs and $1,805,000 shipped abroad by the Bankers, during the week. The Sub-Treasury gained, and, during the week about $750,000. The Banks and Treasury together now hold $38,500,000.

The Treasury received to-day for the Popular Loan, $1,450,496; and for Customs, $477,000. The Popular Loan sold at the Stock Exchange at 102@102½ ¥ cent., including interest from 1st November.

There was no special change in the Money market from last week. There was more demand from the Brokers at 7 ¥ cent. than on Saturday, but where Gold could not be readily obtained, at the rate, there was no difficulty in negotiating through the use of the new Legal Tenders, at 10@15 ¥ cent. The parties engaged in the Railway speculation on the Stock Exchange do not stand long on the difference.

The price of Gold, which closed at 158½ on Saturday night, left off this evening at 159½ ¥ cent. The rates of Exchange on London were not, relatively, so strong—172@172½ ¥ cent.

The Stock Exchange Board did a very heavy day's work. The magnitude of the transactions goes ahead of the excitement of last January and February; not so much, perhaps, in the number of Railway Shares sold from day to day, as in the amount involved in the settlements between the Brokers, because of the enhanced prices on the Railway list. The present speculation more closely resembles the August movement, though not yet up to it in prices. The general feeling to-day was again buoyant. The early sales were at a further advance on Saturday's best prices, and until the subsequent movements on the street and the Second Board indicated some disposition to realize profits, the sellers rather outnumbering the buyers, the prevailing temper of the market is strongly speculative, and the number of outside operators on the street and in the Brokers' offices, on the increase.

At four o'clock the following prices were made in comparison with Saturday night. The afternoon sales of Illinois Central were ex-dividend of 4 ¥ cent; the transfers having closed at three o'clock. This dividend will be upon the following:

Full Paid Shares	$9,672,100
Scrip Shares, 500 each	7,[illegible]
Dividend Scrip	1,772,870
Total paid-up capital	$19,120,500

	Sat.	Mon.		Sat.	Mon.

The Fourth National Bank of New-York, five millions capital, held its first election for Directors to-day. Messrs. SAMUEL WILLETS, W. K. STRONG and WILLIAM WHITEWRIGHT, Jr., Inspectors. The following gentlemen were made Directors for the ensuing year. About 38,000 shares of the 50,000, were represented: Messrs. GEORGE OPDYKE, FREEMAN CLARKE, DAVID DOWS, BENJAMIN H. HUTTON, O. DE FOREST GRANT, ISRAEL CORSE, ROBERT L. TAYLOR, WILLIAM H. WEED, and R. D. LATHROP.

The annual election of officers and directors of the First National Bank of New-York was held, as required by its articles of association, on the second Tuesday in January. SAMUEL C. THOMPSON was reelected President, and JAMES CURPEY Cashier for the ensuing year, together with the entire old Board of Directors.

The stock of the Central Coal Company, (operating in the Cumberland region,) was placed upon the regular list of Stocks at the New-York Exchange to-day by a unanimous vote. As heretofore stated, we have assurances that this Company is already in active operation, and that if the present prosperity in the coal trade continues, there is every reason to expect large demands upon their mines even the coming year.

The Great Western Marine Insurance Company has declared the following dividends for the past year, as will be seen by reference to the Company's statement in our advertising columns: Six ¥ cent. in cash, interest to scrip holders; 16½ ¥ cent. in cash, interest and dividends to stockholders; 25 ¥ cent. in cash, scrip to customers. The Company also pays off the issue of the scrip of 1858, and one-half of the scrip of 1859.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

We have received full files of Richmond papers from Dec. 29, 1863, to the 15th inst., there having been no communication by flag of truce during that time. The contents of the papers are very interesting, though there is no important news. The Winter is passing rapidly away, and the temper of the rebel journals shows that the condition of affairs is not improving. The severe weather is terribly felt by the ill-clad armies. The numbers of the rebel armies, despite the efforts of the rebel Congress at conscription, do not augment; the question of supplies is assuming a more formidable attitude than ever; the Conscription Bill will leave the States without crops, the planters going into the armies and the slaves being hired out to Corporations and manufacturers. The conscription of all the old soldiers now in the armies, whose term shortly expires, is urged in a memorial to the Rebel Congress by Gens. Harris, Cheatham, Bushrod Johnson, and others. Longstreet's position in East Tennessee is said to be satisfactory, though it is admitted that his troops are without supplies of many kinds, particularly shoes. It is reported that he will stay in East Tennessee this winter. Jeff Davis had issued an order conveying the joint resolution of thanks of the Rebel Congress to Gen. Lee. An account of the rebel raid into Hardy County is given, which shows it to have been an insignificant affair in its results. Gen. Pickett, commanding the district on the North Carolina frontier, has hung a colored soldier of the 55th Ohio Regiment, in retaliation for a guerrilla hung by us some weeks ago, and another colored man belonging to Massachusetts, for burning houses. The railroad companies of the Confederacy have become so reduced in rolling stock, that extraordinary efforts are now being made to repair and increase the efficiency of the roads, but a Richmond paper remarks that the conscription will disable the railroads, and says, in addition, "all Virginia railroads are nearly worn out, and so are the men working them." The recaptivement of our veterans is a source of gloom to the rebel press, which chronicles the fact with evident alarm. Flour is quoted at $160 per barrel. The cast of the whole horoscope, as seen through rebel eyes, is decidedly blue, and the prospect grows darker and darker.

Our correspondent at St. Augustine, Fla., sends an interesting letter describing the proceedings in celebration of the First Anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation by the freedmen at that place. We are also informed of an affair which occurred on the 30th ult., in the outskirts of the town, between a detachment of the Tenth Connecticut regiment, detailed to guard a party of woodchoppers and a squadron of rebel cavalry who attempted to seize the teams. The enemy were unsuccessful, but in the fight three privates of the Tenth were killed and Lieut. Brown, the officer commanding the detachment, was so badly wounded that he afterward died.

Gen. Marston, with a small force of infantry and cavalry from Point Lookout, crossed the Potomac last week at Wycomico River, and made an extensive raid through the counties on the Neck, capturing 25 prisoners, a number of cattle, horses and mules, and destroying a large quantity of supplies.

FROM EUROPE.

Via St. Johns, N. F., we have two days' later news from Europe, brought by the steamship Columbia, from Galway, Jan. 6. It is positively stated that the Austrian Archduke Maximilian will visit Paris and depart thence before the end of March, for Mexico, taking with him large reinforcements for the French army. The Schleswig-Holstein difficulty was daily becoming more aggravated, although there was no danger of a collision between the Federal and Danish troops, the latter having completely retired from Holstein territory. The French Legislature on the 4th inst. presented an address to the Emperor, pacific in its tone regarding Russia and Poland, hopeful of beneficial results from French intervention in Mexico and China, and commendatory of the scheme for a Peace Congress. The London Daily News asserts that the recent extraordinary mission of Marshal Forey to Washington resulted in an understanding that the United States Government should not interfere in the new Mexican Monarchy, and in return it was believed that France would refrain from intervention in our affairs. The pirate Florida had completed her repairs at Brest, and was anchored near the U. S. gunboat Kearsarge, expecting to leave the port in February. The French Government adheres to its determination of enforcing the twenty-four hours' rule. The indictment against Heran and King had been removed from trial to the Court of Queen's Bench. It is announced that four new steamers, 2,500 tons each, are to be placed on the line between New-York and London. The sale of chances in the lottery for the steamship Great Britain was progressing rapidly.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate various bills and resolutions of minor importance were presented,—to establish a system of vaccination in the District; to establish a Bureau of Emancipation; to abolish the color qualification for mail-carriers; for the construction of a ship canal around Niagara Falls. The resolutions of thanks to Gens. Hooker, Meade, Howard, Bonaparte and Rause were passed. The resolution prescribing the oath to be taken by Senators was made the special order for to-day. The resolution for the expulsion of Mr. Davis was referred to the Judiciary Committee. Mr. Pomeroy introduced a bill to incorporate the North American Land and Emigration Company, the object of which is to encourage emigration and agriculture. The Enrollment Act was taken up, and, after various verbal amendments, was passed—ayes, 30; noes, 10. Adjourned.

In the House, yesterday, another set of Pendleton resolutions on reconstruction were read, and then laid on the table. The Committee on Ways and Means were instructed to report upon the expediency of repealing the duty of 20 per cent. upon [illegible] and printing paper. A bill was introduced giving to [illegible] joint resolution that Congress adjourn on the third Monday in April, was introduced and laid over. Mr. Cox introduced a resolution requesting the President to appoint a Board of Commissioners for the purpose of negotiating for the exchange of prisoners. The resolution was laid on the table. The Senate resolution for a Joint Committee on the Conduct of the War, to sit during the recess, was favorably reported by Mr. Sherman, and then adopted. A resolution offered by Mr. Smith, of Kentucky, defining the duty of the people in the suppression of the rebellion, was adopted.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

The Senate was not in session yesterday, for want of a quorum.

The Assembly met last evening. Among the bills noticed was one to amend the assessment laws; also to regulate the interest charged by pawnbrokers. A resolution was adopted calling on the Harlem Bridge Commissioners to report what steps they have taken for rebuilding said bridge, as required by the Act of 1861; also to investigate, by letter, the condition of the soldiers on Riker's Island.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Board of Councilmen had no quorum at the meeting yesterday, and adjourned to Thursday at 4 o'clock P. M.

The arrival of the steamship Illinois from Aspinwall on the 9th inst., gave us in possession of our Panama correspondence to that date. The Panama Railroad Company's steamship Salvador had arrived at Panama from Central American ports. The dates from Guatemala, Salvador and Nicaragua were up to the 1st, 2d and 5th of January, and from Costa Rica to the 6th. The Central American States were all quiet. There is not a word of news from any of them. The Salvador went to St. Louis, a new port 60 miles north of San Jose de Guatemala, for the first time, on this trip, and took on some coffee there. The Costa Rica coffee crop of 100,000 quintals was being gathered. Coffee was selling at 16@17 cents, with the prospect of rapid decline.

The one hundred and fifty-eighth birthday of Benjamin Franklin was appropriately celebrated last evening, by the New-York Typographical Society, at their Library Rooms, in Chambers-street.

The price of Gold fell off 1-59½ ₱ cent yesterday. Exchange, 172@172½ ₱ cent. Money, 7@10 ₱ cent. Stocks buoyant, and speculation on the increase in nearly all the Railways.

The cattle trade is injured this week by soft weather and irregular arrivals. The receipts at Forty-fourth-street, yesterday, counted about 2,700 up to 3 o'clock P. M., when some 500 more came in, but too late for selling that day. The market was dull at a decline of ½c. ₱ lb., prime bullocks bringing 12½c.@13c. ₱ lb. for the meat, and fair steers 11c.@11½c. The cattle were mostly common. One splendid pair of premium cattle were pronounced the finest ever seen in this market.

The Extremity of the Rebels.

The files of our Richmond papers just received disclose that the rebellion is fast approaching the mark of fatal exhaustion. Their contents are but one wail of agony. The rebel leaders are literally at their wits' end. With more reason than it ever before exhibited, the Richmond Examiner declares: "It does sometimes seem that the time has come when the rulers of the Southern Confederacy are about to take leave of their senses. The wild projects proposed in Congress are calculated to shake the faith of those who never yet doubted the issue of the war. Those whom the gods will to destroy, they first deprive of their reason."

But this distraction is unavoidable. No human wisdom could devise an escape from such straits as now beset the Confederacy. The predicament is that several vital necessities press with the utmost urgency, and that one cannot be met without giving fatal effect to some other. Thus, the remedies are as fatal as the evil itself.

First, then, there is a military dilemma. It is absolutely necessary to fill the depleted armies so as to enable them to meet our recruited forces in the Spring campaign. Our returning regiments afford us painful evidence how the war has thinned the ranks of our own veterans; but yet they but inadequately indicate the havoc which has been made among the rebel troops. In killed and wounded their losses have at least been equal to ours; in prisoners far greater; in deserters greater yet; and by disease, which is always by far the most destructive agent in war, their losses, on account of their great deficiency of suitable food and clothing, and medicines, and proper care by physicians and nurses, are at least two or three times larger. We find it hard enough to repair the waste the wear and tear of the war makes in our armies, though this waste is not half that suffered by the rebels, and though our resources in population to draw from are now four times greater. But with the rebels this difficulty is a sheer impossibility, unless men are drawn from agricultural and mechanical pursuits to an extent that would make it impossible to supply the army with food and other necessaries. Thus the military dilemma is this: their armies can make no stand against our superior numbers, unless largely recruited; and yet if they are largely recruited, the means of subsisting them must fail inevitably.

The financial dilemma is equally relentless. Confederate notes have been emitted in such quantities that they have become almost worthless. To keep them in circulation is to smother all the credit the "Confederacy" ever had among its people; and yet to force them out of circulation by any arbitrary process is to extinguish the last spark of the credit without which any new issues, in whatever shape, would be equally worthless. Jeff. Davis, in his message, seven weeks ago, declared that immediate action upon the financial question must be taken, or speedy ruin must ensue. And yet, not the first step has been taken by the Congress toward meeting that question. Debates have taken place in secret session—it having been voted that it was not a subject that could bear public discussion—but they have yielded nothing but the most hopeless perplexity and confusion. In the nature of things, it cannot be otherwise. The redundancy of the notes kills the credit, and this redundancy can be cured only by repudiation, which, whether direct or indirect, is equally fatal to credit.

Then, there is a political dilemma, daily growing more serious. A portion of the people, especially in North Carolina, are fast becoming too restless to be controlled, except by a stronger Government; and yet there is every reason to believe that the very imposition of a stronger Government would make them more restless still. Senator Foote [illegible] a proposition for the establishment of a dictatorship. But the news of it no sooner reaches North Carolina than it is met with the solemn assevera[illegible] that North Carolina will submit to no dictatorship, and that the attempt to force her will only be the signal for armed resistance. A dictatorship could not cure the restlessness, for the simple reason that this restlessness springs from natural causes over which no political power, whether limited or supreme, can have any control; but to attempt to keep restlessness down by sheer repression, without removing its causes, is the surest of all ways to aggravate it.

We might mention other difficulties, especially that of the failure of the means of transportation. The Enquirer of the 5th inst. says, that "all Virginia railroad iron is nearly worn out, and so are the men working them." The consequences which hang upon this may be gathered from an item we find in another sheet, that the Virginia Central, during every twenty-four hours, transports to the Army of Northern Virginia an amount of freight which it would require a thousand wagons and drivers, and four thousand mules or horses, ten days to transport the same distance.

But it is needless to dwell on any of these special exigencies of the "Confederacy." The Enquirer states the simple fact when, in discussing the currency question, it says: "The truth is that the present question is not merely a question of currency; it is a general crisis, and an unavoidable one." The crushing agencies are so manifold, and so closely interlocked, that relief is impossible. The attempt to produce relief in one direction only intensifies the pressure in some other. It is impossible that the present condition should much longer continue. Every day is imposing a new strain. The collapse at farthest can't be far.

Restoration of the Union.

We publish in another part of this morning's paper, an able and interesting communication from Prof. Twining, of Yale College, on the plan by which Mr. Ashley in Congress proposes to restore the Union. Its main purpose is to insist upon the necessity, in order to secure the welfare and stability of the Union, of regenerating the governments and political institutions of the rebel States before restoring them to their old place in the National Union. The writer commends President Lincoln's plan as eminently wise and just; while he objects to the seventh section of Mr. Ashley's bill, that it may place the State Governments again in rebel hands. That section, after providing fully for the formation of a free Constitution, and stipulating against any assumption of the Confederate debt and other abuses, enacts that when a majority of the legal voters of the State shall adopt that Constitution, it shall be received and proclaimed by the President to be the constituted government of said State. Prof. Twining, in the article referred to, objects that by such a provision the rebels may again get possession of their State Governments.

We do not intend at present to discuss this point, which is certainly one of great importance and likely to enter largely into the political divisions of the day. We see no reason, however, to change the opinion we have frequently expressed, that whenever a majority of the people in any rebel State shall actually and practically abandon the rebellion, throw down their arms, resume their allegiance to the Constitution of the United States, obey their laws and support their Government, every consideration of wise statesmanship will demand that they be allowed to exercise that civil and political control of their local affairs which under our system is vested in the Governments of the several States, and to resume their place as States in the National Union. We should consider it perfectly safe to permit this, even without some of the conditions which the President in his Proclamation has imposed upon them:—but with these conditions, we see none of the dangers in such a course which many profess to apprehend.

This subject is rapidly pressing upon the attention of the country. Although much remains to be done in the field before the problem of restoring the Union is ripe for solution, Congress will be largely occupied with plans and projects for accomplishing that result; and the interest of the coming Presidential canvass will turn to a very great extent upon the comparative merits of the rival plans that may be presented. Thus far, certainly, the President's suggestions commend themselves to the country as eminently wise and admirably adapted to the present position of public affairs.

Traces of the Confederacy's Confederates.—Those who have read Thackeray cannot have forgotten his descriptions of that class of large-nosed gentlemen to whom young men who have been living too fast, and have sudden and urgent calls for ready money, are too apt to apply for aid. As our readers will recollect, these gentry never can raise quite the amount which the spendthrift requires in cash, but they are apt to have a little nice wine, or a picture, or a horse, or some knickknack which they can throw in to make up the amount, and which is so cheap that they would not let it go except to oblige a friend, &c.

It seems to us from some of the facts which drop out here and there in the Lamar Correspondence, that these same gentry have been doing a little stroke of business with the young spendthrift, the Southern Confederacy. This reprobate, as all the world knows, has been in want, pressing want, of funds, to enable him to carry out the game of knavery which he has set on foot. He had some cotton, however, carefully stored on various plantations, in sheds "three hundred feet distant from any other building," and if he could only get it through that "paper" blockade, or if he could safely sell his rascally plot, and secure quiet possession of that share of his old uncle's property which he had pounced upon, he would be able to meet the obligations which he might incur during the struggle. We need hardly say that this is just the case which these friends of the distressed delight in. They have to run some risk, however, and they must indemnify themselves by a good rate of interest. We surmise, also, that now and then, possibly, when they do not have just the ready cash which he wants, they have on hand the nicest little lot of rifles, or the neatest article of percussion shells, or new-fangled bullets, or a wonderfully cheap lot of army blankets, which he can find use for, and which are just as good to him as the hard cash, and which they can turn in to make up what he wants. We have no positive or precise accounts of any such transaction; but we could not help thinking of Thackeray's portraitures when we read, in one of the letters of Mr. C. A. L. Lamar to his father, the fact mentioned quite incidentally that the firm of Isaacs, Campbell & Co. had advanced to the Southern Confederacy £500,000. We could not but recollect that these very parties had put themselves forward as the owners of the cargoes of the Stephen Hart and the Springbok—two vessels recently condemned, with cargoes destined for the rebels; and we could not help wondering whether these rifles, and army blankets, and drugs, &c., were not some which they happened to have on hand, and which came in nicely to make up that sum of £500,000. The name of the firm answers very well to the supposition, and so do the circumstances of the case.

In one way or another, it is pretty clear that this firm have made a good thing out of young Confederacy's necessities, for we see it stated in another letter that they had presented a house to one of the young vagabond's agents abroad. If they could afford to make such presents as that, we are led to think that they must have found their business with him profitable; and this strengthens our supposition that they have not really lost anything by the seizure of these two cargoes of which we spoke, but that although they have put themselves forward as the owners, the goods were really a part of that half-million which they had advanced the young desperado, and for which they had taken such security as he had to offer. We shall be surprised if that house should happen to fail, and have to go through the Bankrupt Court, to see any claim for these cargoes appearing in their schedules. It will more likely be in the shape of a claim against the Confederacy or some of its agents—a loss to be charged to misplaced confidence of their own, rather than to too much vigilance on the part of Federal cruisers, or violations of international law by Federal judges.

The Approaching Fairs.

The great Fairs for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission, to be held next month in Brooklyn and the month after in New-York, are already exciting an almost unprecedented social interest in the two communities. Churches, schools, business corporations, literary and art associations, entertainment clubs, and every walk of private life, high and humble, are almost all manifesting a purpose to cooperate in these grand efforts for our sick and our wounded soldiers.

We have, indeed, heard of individuals—one or two of them in the most sacred of all callings,—incredible as it may appear, who have exhibited coldness and even aversion toward these enterprises; but such persons are rare exceptions. It is hard to conceive how such insensibility can be produced in this Christian part of the world. It is so essentially pagan—so identical with the spirit that ruled in the ancient nations, which had no such idea as brotherhood, no such word as charity—that we would almost as soon think of hearing of heathen sacrifices in one of our churches, or one of our households. We live under a religion that tells us to succor the distressed, whoever they may be—to feed even our enemies.

The Sanitary Commission, rightly considered, is one of the noblest Christian manifestations of the age. War has tracked the earth with blood from time immemorial; but not until now has it ever been attended by an angel of charity. The great religious wars of the seventeenth century, and the great political wars of the eighteenth and early part of the nineteenth century, were equally unblessed, as all previous wars had been, by any organized effort to mitigate the awful suffering which comes from the privations of the camp, hardships of the march, and from the shock of battle. Christian civilization had advanced, but war still remained essentially barbarous. An ancient battle-field and a modern battle-field differed little but in the instruments of the slaughter. Cannae and Waterloo were in most respects the same. The ancient Tacitus, who portrayed the "plain covered with bodies, gashed and mangled, with broken limbs, and men and horses in one promiscuous carnage, clotted gore and filth—the whole a dreary waste, the desolation of nature shocking to humanity,"—made a battle scene that in his day was complete. And it vividly describes every great battle that has occurred, down to the epoch of the American rebellion. But now new figures come into the picture—ministers of mercy who flee to the relief of every stricken soldier with all remedies and comforts; who nurse him with all the tenderness and all the patience of a brother's love if he can live, and who, if he is to die, receive his last message for his "loved ones at home," and cheer his spirit as it takes its flight to the other world. What Robert Hall said in the last century is no longer true, that "war is a temporary repeal of all the principles of virtue." There are, in fact, principles of virtue which have never flourished more than during this rebellion. Never were there nobler sacrifices than by our soldiers; never sweeter humanities than by our soldiers' friends.

The Sanitary Commission is peculiarly the emanation of the Christian patriotism of the land; and it has done a work for the war which will be as memorable as the war. The receipts of its central treasury, in cash, from its establishment, two and a half years ago, exclusive of what has gone into the minor treasuries of its many branches, have exceeded a million of dollars. Its plan was most admirably conceived in every detail, and has been carried out with an administrative ability and fidelity seldom equaled in any public enterprise. The amount of good it has accomplished in preventing and relieving suffering is incalculable. The best idea of it may be gained by a single comparative statement of results in respect to the saving of life.

The average annual loss of the British army during the Peninsular war was one hundred and sixty-five out of every thousand, of whom 113 died by disease or accident. In the Crimean war, the British army lost in July, August and September at the rate of two hundred and ninety-three out of every thousand, of whom 96 per cent. were by disease. During the next three months, their loss was at the annual rate of two hundred and eleven out of every thousand, seven-eighths of which loss was by disease. During the three months following, their loss was at the annual rate of nine hundred and twelve out of every thousand, of which 93 per cent. was by disease. On the other hand, our armies, up to the middle of last May, had lost only at the annual rate of fifty-three per thousand, and only 44 per cent. of that loss was by disease and accident. Of course, it would not be right to attribute this enormous difference solely to the efforts of the Sanitary Commission. Many minor influences have contributed to it, but there can be no question that it is very largely due to the wise and untiring exertions of this agency.

The peculiar glory of this Commission is, that its splendid work enures alike to patriotism and to humanity. It is not only human life that is saved, but soldierly service for the country. Thousands of veterans are now fighting the battles of the Republic, who, but for the care of this great sanitary agency, in warding off and relieving disease, and in nursing the wounded, would now be in their graves, or be incapable of service by physical disability. Our people are appreciating better than ever the vast public benefit thus realized, for the immense bounties tell of the worth of tried soldiers with a directness not to be mistaken.

The Commission has to rely upon the people alone for the means wherewith to carry on this sublime work. The people have nobly responded to every call made by it heretofore. But its treasury is now nearly exhausted, and there is necessity for special efforts to enable it to meet its duties in the great Spring campaigns which will soon begin, and which, it is hoped, will sweep all that remains of the rebellion to the dust. It is with extreme satisfaction that we mark the earnestness with which New-York and Brooklyn are preparing to do their whole duty in staying up an agency which has so blessed the country. They have adopted methods which need only the continued stimulus of the spirit now prevailing, to secure most magnificent results.

THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

Raid from Point Lookout by Gen. Marston—Capture of Prisoners, and Destruction of Rebel Supplies.

Baltimore, Monday, Jan. 18.

The Americus has a letter dated Point Lookout, Jan. 16, giving an account of quite an extensive raid in Westmoreland, Northumberland, and Richmond Counties, Va., by Brig.-Gen. Marston. His command consisted of 300 infantry and 120 cavalry. The cavalry embarked from Point Lookout on the 12th. It consisted of detachments of the Second and Fifth United States cavalry. They landed at Kinsale, Va., the Wycomico River. Thirty men were detached to go with the infantry. The command marched to Warsaw Court House, Richmond County, captured and destroyed a large quantity of pork and bacon, collected there for the rebel Government, captured a rebel Major and several other prisoners, and destroyed grain, &c. From Warsaw they proceeded to Union Wharf on the Rappahannock, and communicated with the gunboats. They then moved down the river, crossed Farnham's Creek, and burned a large bridge. Some skirmishing occurred at this point with the rebel cavalry. The next morning they marched for Little Waltham and destroyed a quantity of grain and other produce, and after a slight skirmish with a small body of rebel cavalry, they moved on to Lancaster Court House, where the main command halted, and Lieut. Dickinson, of the Fifth cavalry, was sent to Kilmarnick, ten miles distant, and from that point a detachment was sent out which burned an extensive tannery and a large amount of leather, hides, machinery, oil, &c. That night the command marched for a point on the Wycomico, where they expected to meet the infantry force and the gunboats. They communicated with the fleet and found all quiet. On the 14th they moved up the Wycomico to a point where the command were recharged, and returned to Point Lookout, after an absence of three days. Only one man was killed. Twenty-five prisoners were taken, and 40 horses, 20 mules, 35 head of cattle and 100 sheep were captured. Commodore Parrott, of the Potomac Flotilla, rendered essential service to the expedition.

Retaliation.

Fortress Monroe, Monday, Jan. 18.

A detachment of the Eleventh Pennsylvania cavalry returned yesterday from a raid through Eastern North Carolina. They report that they found the body of a soldier hanging at Smith Mills on the 14th inst., with the following words placarded upon it:

"Here hangs private Simon Jones, of the Fifth Ohio Regiment, hung by order of Maj.-Gen. Pickett, in retaliation for private David Bunnay, of the Second Georgia regiment, hung Dec. 30, by order of Brig.-Gen. Wise."

Court of Appeals.

Albany, Monday, Jan. 18.

In the Court of Appeals, Day Calendar for Tuesday, Jan. 19, 1864: Nos. 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79 and 81.

A Snow-Storm West.

Cincinnati, Monday, Jan. 18.

It commenced raining last night, about 8 o'clock, and continued till 2 o'clock this morning, when it turned to snow. The ground is now covered and snow continues to fall. Thermometer 20°.

From Fortress Monroe.

Fortress Monroe, Monday, Jan. 18.

The bark C. A. Cushman, from Guadeloupe, bound to Portland, arrived here in distress. Capt. Patterson and all his crew are sick. The cook died on the passage. One man died this morning.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, Monday, Jan. 18.

NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED.

The Senate to-day confirmed the following nominations:

Jesse G. Bowen, of Pennsylvania, as Chief Coiner of the Philadelphia Mint.

Isaac A. Stores, Deputy Postmaster of Hempstead, Pa., vice Briggs, deceased.

THE PENNSYLVANIA REIMBURSEMENT CLAIMS.

The Second Auditor of the Treasury, in compliance with a resolution of the House of Representatives, has prepared a statement relative to the claim of Pennsylvania to the sum of $671,626, for the services of the ninety days' troops during the rebel invasion of that State, from which it appears that they were called out by proclamation of the Governor and discharged by him, having never been mustered into the service of the United States.

A DECISION RESPECTING COUNTY BONDS.

The Supreme Court of the United States, to-day, in a case where a county issued bonds on subscription to a railroad, they being in accordance with a law of the State, decided that bonds on the part of the Railroad could not justify the repudiation of the bonds.

ANOTHER CASE OF CONGRESS.

The Secretary of the Treasury received to-day $9 from an unknown source, the same conveying it simply saying: "The inclosed belongs to the United Treasury." $9 confiscation.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

Albany, Monday, Jan. 18.

The Senate was not in session for want of a quorum.

ASSEMBLY—EVENING SESSION.

Albany, Monday, Jan. 18.

The Assembly met at 7 o'clock this evening.

By Mr. Bennett—Incorporating the Neptune Insurance Company.

On motion of Mr. Ingraham, a resolution was adopted calling on the Harlem Bridge Commissioners for information as to what steps they have taken under the act of 1861 for rebuilding said bridge.

Mr. Fitzgerald's resolution for an investigation of the condition of the soldiers on Riker's Island, was amended by providing that the investigation shall be conducted by letter, and was then adopted.

Adjourned.

Amusements.

German Opera.—Wagner's celebrated opera of the "Tannhauser" was brought out at the Academy of Music, last evening, with complete success. The performance was generally of a very creditable sort, but owing to the length of the opera, it did not terminate until an hour much too late for us to do justice to its merits. We shall, therefore, defer our remarks to another occasion, simply placing on record the favorable reception of the opera, and the general merit of the performance. "Tannhauser" will be repeated on Wednesday.

Speed of our Naval Vessels—Note from E. N. Dickerson, Esq.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The Secretary of the Navy, by Capt. Fox, endeavors to answer the exposure of the inefficiency of the navy by proposing a race; and he challenges the fastest American and foreign ships to run with the Sutton. The general impression of this challenge is that the Navy Department has a non-going steamer made on the plan which can run with the Admiral or Scotia; and if such was the fact the navy would have cause to be proud. But the fact is that the boat he proposes to run is not a non-going steamer, but only a side-wheel, double rudder, large ferry-boat, built very light, to go into the lagoons of the South to hunt forage or guerrillas; and their boilers and machinery are above water, so that a 12-pound shot would stop one of them anywhere, by opening her boiler or breaking her engine. And the engines of these boats are made with an independent cut-off, (called Stevens' cut-off,) which is most largely used of any, and in this respect is just like the Vanderbilt and Mary Powell, the fastest ocean and river vessels of the country. The complaint against the Navy Department is not that these ferry-boats are slow, but that their ships-of-war are; and if that is true, the speed of the ferry-boats is of no consequence. For a year I have been urging the Secretary to order one of his ships-of-war, which have no independent cut-off, to be run over a measured distance, and he won't do it; but he would have the country accept instead the speed of a ferry-boat, which is made in the usual way, although in bad proportions. Whenever he runs one of our ships she will go nine knots an hour, and if ferry-boats go faster it is because of the difference between them in working steam in large cylinders.

But as the Secretary wants a race, I will accommodate him if Mr. Osborne, the owner of the vessel, will allow her to be used, and I will propose to run the Kit Kong, owned by that gentleman, whose engine is made from my drawings in respect to all in which it differs from ordinary ones, against the Sutton, for $10,000, to be paid to the Sanitary Commission by the winner. The engine is of the same diameter as the Sutton, but one-third larger stroke, and the wheels are of the same size. Yet it has only 180 square feet of grates, against 300 on the Sutton. And I will wager the money that, burning the same coal, the Sutton will be beaten four miles an hour.

What consequence is it if we have a ferry-boat built on ordinary plans which can go a mile a minute, if our war ships can't go nine miles an hour? If his ferry-boats are fast, it only shows what I have proved, that an independent cut-off is an essential in speed.

Truly, E. N. DICKERSON.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL.

St. John's, N. F., Sunday, Jan. 17.

The steamship Columbia, from Galway on the afternoon of the 6th inst., arrived at this port, on route to Boston, at 4 o'clock this (Sunday) afternoon.

The steamship Canada, from Boston via Halifax, arrived at Queenstown at noon on the 6th.

The United States corvette St. Louis was at Lisbon on the 30th.

The press is quiet upon American affairs.

Lord Palmerston was unable to attend a Cabinet Council on the 2d, owing to an attack of gout.

The Anglo-Chinese fleet, fitted out by Gen. Ou-Ning, was returning to England for sale, Prince Kung having refused to carry out the bargain.

It is considered that Parliament would meet Feb. 4.

At a meeting relative to the Great Eastern, it was stated that the proposed lottery for the ship at Frankfort was satisfactorily settled, and independently spirit. Shares were rapidly taken up in England. It was also said that the French and American Governments were expected to bid for the ship at the auction on the 14th of January.

It was announced that four fast screw-steamers, ships that each, are to be placed on the line between London and New-York by the British and American Steam Navigation Company in March.

THE MEXICAN QUESTION.

The Memorial Diplomatique confidentially asserts that the Archduke Maximilian will accept and occupy the Mexican throne. The understanding between the Archduke and Napoleon is said to be excellent, and it is represented that capitalists overwhelm the Archduke with offers of money on the simple guarantee of his succession to the throne.

The Paris Pays says it is understood that the extraordinary mission of Marshal Forey to Washington had for its result an undertaking on the part of the United States Government not to dispute the new Mexican monarchy. In return it is believed that guarantees were made by France with regard to the attitude of that country towards the Confederate States.

The Daily News also says the Archduke and Archduchess are expected very shortly to visit Napoleon at Paris, whence they proceed to St. Nazaire, to embark on an American frigate, attended by a French guard-of-war, for Vera Cruz.

THE HOLSTEIN QUESTION.

The Danish troops had completely evacuated Rendsburg, including the six villages north of the Eider, which are geographically part of Schleswig, but have been incorporated with Holstein.

The London Times remarks:

A fortnight ago it was said that peace is yet undisturbed. The Federal execution in Holstein is distinguishable only by the utmost circumlocution from the reality of war, and it is impossible to tell how long even this shadowy distinction may be maintained.

The attention proposed to the Federal Diet, that the Duchy of Augustenburg be immediately constituted, to leave the Duchies, was rejected by a vote of 8 to 7.

The King of Denmark had received Fleischmann, on a visit to his camp in Schleswig.

FRANCE.

The bullion in the Bank of France was still decreasing.

The Courrier du Dimanche has been suspended for two months.

PORTUGAL.

The King opened the Cortes on the 31. He said in his speech that the tobacco monopoly would be abolished next April. Tobacco may henceforth be cultivated in Madeira and the Azores. The budget was satisfactory.

POLAND.

Russia had imposed upon Poland a fresh contribution of six millions of roubles, of which two and a half millions fell on Warsaw.

LATEST VIA GALWAY.

Liverpool, Tuesday, Jan. 5.

It is confirmed that Maximilian will visit Paris, and reach Mexico before the end of March, with requisite reinforcements.

The Holstein question shows an increasing embarrassment. The Times continues to take gloomy views, and says the Germans are watching still upon events, while events threaten more and more to be master rather than guide.

The address to Napoleon was introduced in the Corps Legislatif on the 4th. It expresses the hope that beneficial results may speedily be derived by France from the Chinese and the Mexican expeditions. It is very positive in tone toward Russia and Prussia, and heartily extols the Emperor's scheme for a Congress.

The steam steamer Florida had completed her repairs at Brest, and anchored about 300 yards from the Karnaque. She would sail in February. A French vessel will accompany each, at an interval of 24 hours.

The indictment against Messrs. King and Hassan has been removed into the Court of Queen's Bench.

Liverpool, Tuesday, Jan. 5.

It is now general belief in Copenhagen, that the French and English fleet will soon appear in the Danish waters. Large reinforcements will be sent to the Island of Funen.

Berlin, Tuesday, Jan. 5.

In the Chambers M. Bismarck advocated freedom of action on the part of the Government. He hoped the Chambers would not compel the Government to obtain success on crown authority.

Copenhagen, Tuesday, Jan. 5.

The Danish Government has called out 14,000 reserve troops.

A Proclamation of the King to the army says:

The new year finds you in arms for the defence of your country. Our motto is Honor of Country; and it shall be upheld with peace, or if necessary by force of arms. Life is too precious for the salvation of the Fatherland. From its former struggles the army has retained its experienced leaders, whom the young troops will follow with enthusiasm. Courage, not numbers, always leads to victory.

Whereas, The Naval Retiring Board has heard with deep regret the demise of its late President, Rear Admiral George W. Storer, of the United States Navy; therefore,

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Board the Naval service has sustained a loss which can be appreciated only by those who enjoyed the good fortune of his acquaintance, and who witnessed the unremitting zeal of the gentleman, with whatever decision was necessary to maintain the dignity of the officer; that his social virtues were so combined as to make him no less beloved than his just sense of official duty made him respected; that in his kind and devoted care for the service in which he possessed a life-long interest and useful to the end of his career, he always waived considerations of private interest to public duty, and well illustrated this self-abnegation by his late services as President of this Board, which were rendered to the prejudice of feeble health and the sacrifice of domestic comfort.

Resolved, That we tender our sympathies and condolence to his bereaved family, and forward them a copy of these resolutions.

Resolved, That the foregoing be published in the New-York Times and New-York Herald, and the Portsmouth (N. H.) Journal. Signed

AGAIN NEW TESTIMONY.

READ.

Harlem, July 30, 1863.

I have been deaf for over twenty-five years, and Dr. Von Eisenberg operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

TESTIMONIAL FROM ONE OF THE MOST RESPECTABLE CITIZENS OF NEW-YORK.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH CURED.

No. 426 Seventh-av., New-York, Dec. 5, 1863.

I was deaf for several years, and hearing of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I was induced to place myself under his care, and I am now happy to state that my hearing was entirely restored after a short treatment. I was also suffering from chronic catarrh, of which I was also cured by the skillful treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg. I do but justice to the Doctor in stating that in treating me he displayed that skill and knowledge which have already procured for him such a deserved reputation, and that the principles which direct his system of curing Deafness and Catarrh are such as to render success certain, in my opinion. Many months have passed since Dr. Von Eisenberg restored my hearing, and it continues as good as ever.

C. HOPKINS.

CATARRH CURED.

New-York, Aug. 22, 1863.

I have been suffering for the last three years from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a secretion of thick, heavy and frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting, often with a fullness of my throat, together with a nervous and a dropping. Dr. Von Eisenberg has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I now feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg is as skillful as it is successful. It is impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. Von Eisenberg's care, with a certainty of being speedily cured. I give this with gratitude and pleasure. I cannot forbear again saying that my voice, which was hoarse and thick when I applied to Dr. Von Eisenberg, is now clear and good; indeed, I feel abundantly saluted.

JAMES LITTLE,

No. 265 11th-st., New-York.

New-York, Sept. 7.

I have been suffering for years past from a severe Catarrh, with a great heaviness over my eyes, with a severe depression, great uneasiness, and pain in my head, great difficulty in breathing, and a continual accumulation in my nostrils, which gave me restless nights for several years. I have consulted several physicians, who pronounced me to be consumptive. What I suffered for so long a time is indescribable. My system was entirely disarranged and greatly debilitated. I not only felt weak, but I had a cloud continually before my eyes, and my ears were so affected that I was threatened with a total loss of hearing. I must say, I think, I was guided by Providence to come to Dr. Von Eisenberg, who not only cured me of my Catarrh by removing an astonishing quantity of disagreeable matter from my head, but restored me to perfect health, a blessing I have not enjoyed for many years. Now I enjoy a good night's rest, and pursue my business with comfort. I must acknowledge that Dr. Von Eisenberg's mild and scientific treatment for Catarrh deserves the highest consideration, as the principle which directs his system of curing Catarrh is such as to render success certain.

JAMES FURLONG, No. 358 2d-av.

No. 134 Allen-st., New-York, Feb. 5, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a dangerous discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR.

New-York, July 28, 1863.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. He with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.

READ.

New-York, March 28, 1863.

This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him, with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured.

SALE OF SIX PER CENT. STATE BONDS.
STATE OF CONNECTICUT, TREASURY OFFICE,
HARTFORD, Jan. 12, 1864.

Sealed proposals for the purchase of $3,000,000 of the Bonds of the State of Connecticut will be received at the office of the Treasurer in Hartford until the 23d day of January, 1864, at noon, when said proposals will be opened in the presence of such bidders as choose to attend, and the Bonds awarded to the highest bidders.

Each proposal must be accompanied with a certificate of deposit or certified check on any solvent bank in the City of Connecticut or Massachusetts, or the City of New-York, equal to five per cent. of the amount subscribed, to be held as security for the faithful fulfillment of the bid, and returned to the successful bidders upon the payment of their bids.

It is provided that no bid can be accepted at less than the par value of the Bonds, and full payment in funds current in New-York and Boston will be required within five days after notice of acceptance.

The Bonds are dated January 1st, 1864, and payable in twenty years from date at the Treasurer's Office, with six per cent. coupons attached, also payable at the same place, on the twenty-first day of each year, viz., 1865 and 1866. If preferred by the purchaser, registered bonds will be issued, provided not less than $100,000 of the class are desired.

A sinking fund of $56,000 is specially established, and the faith and credit of the State pledged for the redemption of the above-mentioned Bonds, the rate of which is fixed by Act of the General Assembly, and approved at their special session and approved January 14, 1864.

CHICAGO AND GREAT EASTERN RAILWAY COMPANY,
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,
FOR $2,000,000.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED WITH Messrs. SCHUCHARDT & GEBHARD, Bankers, No. 21 Nassau-st., New-York.

The Chicago and Great Eastern Railway Company now offer for sale one million one hundred thousand dollars of their first mortgage bonds, in sums of one thousand dollars each, maturing in thirty years, bearing interest at the rate of Seven per cent. per annum, payable in the City of New-York, on the first days of April and October, in each year.

These bonds are secured by a first and only Mortgage on the property, income and franchises of the Railway Company, executed to Frederick Schuchardt and Henry Morgan, of the City of New-York, Trustees.

The remaining nine hundred and eleven dollars of the Bonds are set apart and remain in the hands of the said Trustees, for the purpose of being exchanged, for the indebtedness of the Chicago and Cincinnati Railroad Company, running from the Ohio to Logansport; this other, and the $2,000,000 will form a first and only Mortgage on a line of road 110 miles in length, extending from Chicago to Logansport, where it connects with the Cincinnati and Chicago Air-line Railroad, forming the shortest line by 40 miles, between Chicago and Cincinnati, and by 36 miles the shortest line between Louisville and Chicago.

It will also open, in connection with roads now in operation, entirely new and very direct lines from Chicago to New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and all Eastern cities. The distance between Chicago and New-York by this route being shorter than by either of the existing lines, the business will be large.

The road is now under contract, and the most strenuous efforts are being made to have it open for traffic during the Summer of 1864.

The interest on the Bonds maturing during the progress of the work has been provided for, and will remain on deposit with the Bankers at the Company's, Messrs SCHUCHARDT & GEBHARD, No. 21 Nassau-st., to whom the Company refer for further particulars, and where subscription books for this loan have been opened.

U. S. 5-20 LOAN.

We beg to call attention to the comparatively small amount of Five-Twenty Bonds remaining unsold, now less than thirty-four millions, and would suggest the importance of subscriptions being sent to us forthwith, as the market is liable to be influenced by effects from which they will not be obtainable except at a premium.

The demand occasioned by the formation of new Banks, as well as for foreign account, is daily increasing.

Less delay is anticipated in delivery for the future.

We continue for the present to allow one-eighth per cent. commission on purchasing for cash.

MEDICAL.

PERSONS DISCHARGED CURED IN THE shortest possible time by DR. WARD & CO., No. 2 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time, or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris, and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 20 years' practice he has cured thousands of cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all other practitioners combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other man or will, and have been robbed of their money and health, call. Will take but little money and time to restore you. Have been in continued practice in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last remedy, where other physicians have failed to cure, and pronounced incurable, eradicated in a short time. Sufferers from impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure by addressing a full diagnosis of their cases, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 2 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send, or write for a circular.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS. SUCCESSfully consulted with Dr. WARD, No. 2 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Venerienne, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive speedy treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gleet, stricture, strumous ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of these complaints enable me to effect cures in cases where others have failed. Advice free. Cure in two weeks. This marvelous agent renders manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, &c., by mostly overlooked causes, and cures Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Orchitis, Hydrocele, and effects of venereal disease, removing the most delicate, obvious and only effectual remedies in the world, guaranteeing a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Restoration in 1864. Those who have used other remedies, or been under the care of other physicians, To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR GOUT AND RHEUMATISM.

All sufferers from the above complaints, either of recent or long standing, are advised to use Blair's Gout and Rheumatic Pills. They can be relied upon as the most safe and efficacious remedy ever offered to the public, and have been extensively used in Europe for many years with the greatest success.

Prepared by PROUT & HASSANT, No. 220 Strand, London, England, and sold by their Agents, F. C. WELLS & CO., 182 Franklin-st., and by most Druggists. Her Majesty's Commissioners have authorized the name and signature of Thomas Prout, No. 229 Strand, London, to be impressed upon the Government stamp affixed to each box of the genuine medicine.

MANHOOD AND THE VIGOR OF YOUTH Maintained in three days by Dr. POWERS' ESSENCE OF LIFE. This wonderful agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution, radically curing Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, and Impotence to marriage generally; Nervousness, Mental and Physical Prostration, Premature Decay, Confusion of Ideas, &c. The testimony of thousands in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last remedy, where other physicians have failed to cure, and pronounced incurable, eradicated in a short time. Sufferers from impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure by addressing a full diagnosis of their cases, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 2 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send, or write for a circular.

A PHYSIOLOGICAL VIEW OF MARRIAGE, Illustrated by 125 engravings, and 200 pages, gives the physiology of the sexual organs in a state of health and disease, with a treatise on self-abuse, its deplorable consequences upon the mind and body, with the author's plan of treatment, the only rational and successful one ever known by the report of cases treated. A truthful adviser to the married and those contemplating marriage, who suspect impairment of their physical condition. Sent, free of postage, to any address on receipt of 25 cents, in money or postage-stamps. Address Dr. LE DUC, No. 61 Maiden-lane, Albany, N. Y.

ADVICE TO MARRIED OR SINGLE LADIES, who require a safe and sure remedy for menstruation, should use Dr. Hunter's Celebrated ANNALINE PILLS. Can only be obtained at DR. HUNTER'S, No. 1 Ann-st. Ladies requiring monthly relief, but obstinate cases, of long standing, may require No. 2, which are very degree stronger than No. 1, and can never fail, are safe and healthy; price $5 a box. Sold at No. 1 Ann, Liberty-st., and No. 483 Hudson-st., New-York; or sent by mail, with full instructions, by addressing Dr. HUNTER, No. 1 Ann, New-York Post-office.

DR. WARD'S MAGICAL INVIGORATORS, IN the form of Pills, will, in fifteen minutes after being taken, make the recipient as vigorous as if nature had never been retarded or debilitated. LEGAL NOTICES.

NEW-YORK, SUPREME COURT, IN THE MATTER OF LIEN
THE STEAMBOAT BRIGADIER,
Her Tackle and Furniture.

To all whom it may concern:

Take notice that a warrant of attachment has been issued in this matter by Hon. G. C. Barnard, a Justice of this Court, against the steamboat Brigadier, her tackle, apparel, &c., on the ... day of January, 1864. That the amount of the claim specified in said warrant is one hundred and thirty-nine dollars and fifty cents ($139 50), and that said steamboat will be sold for the payment of the claims against her, unless the master, owner or consignee thereof, or some person interested therein, appears and discharges said warrant according to law, within thirty days from this date.

E. ELLSWORTH,
Attorney for attaching creditors, Nyack, N. Y.
New-York, Jan. 19, 1864.

PROCLAMATION.

Whereas the premises Nos. 99 and 101 West 13th-st., in the City of New-York, were set on fire on the morning of the 7th day of January, inst., and there is every reason to believe that the same was caused by some evil-disposed person or persons; Now, I, C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Mayor of the City of New-York, by virtue of the power in me vested by the ordinances of said City, do hereby offer a reward of two hundred and fifty dollars for the detection and conviction of the said incendiary or incendiaries who fired the said premises; and I do also certificate of the District Attorney, or of the Judge before whom the said person or persons may be convicted of the said crime, that in his opinion the evidence of the person applying for said reward was conclusive in the said conviction, but all claims for said reward, not presented to the Mayor within twenty days after said conviction will be disregarded.

C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Mayor.

SIMEON DRAPER, Auctioneer.
SCRANTON COAL AT AUCTION.

OFFICE OF THE DELAWARE, LACKAWANNA AND WESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY, New-York, Jan. 15, 1864.

This Company will hold their Twelfth Regular Monthly Auction on WEDNESDAY, the 27th day of January, 1864, at 10 o'clock noon, at the office of the Company, No. 55 William-st., at which time they will offer, by SIMEON DRAPER, Auctioneer,

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND TONS OF FRESH MINED SCRANTON COAL,

embracing all the usual sizes, and deliverable at their depot, Elizabethport, N. J., during the month of February next.

The sale will be positive. Each lot put up will be sold to the highest bidder; no sale, in any form whatever, being made for account of, or on behalf of the Company.

Fifty cents per ton in money will be made to be paid at the time and place of sale, and the balance, by bankers' funds on receiving the order for the coal, which must be called for within ten days thereafter, and the coal taken away within thirty days from the day of sale, unless navigation is obstructed. Buyers who wish, however, can have an additional thirty days for taking the delivery of their purchases, by making a further deposit of fifty cents per ton within the ten days above specified. Interest at six per cent. per annum will, in such case, be charged on the balance, from the time stipulated for payment until paid; and twenty-five cents per ton to cover the expense of stocking the coal, both to be paid on delivery of order.

The other conditions of sale will be substantially those adopted by all purchasers, by private contract, of Coal deliverable at Elizabethport, so far as applicable. The coal will be delivered direct from the cars on their arrival from the mines, when practicable—otherwise from the stock. These conditions will be modified to meet the wants of Ocean Steamers, whose arrival cannot be definitely fixed. JOHN BRISBIN, President.

DATED, 26 November, 1863.
GOVERNOR OF PORTLAND PRISON.

The London Times, in speaking of this great moral drama, mentions a fact to which the Provincial Press of Great Britain and Ireland has given confirmation:

"A clerk who absconded from Liverpool with £9,500, the property of his employers, and after visiting many places, arrived at Birmingham, at about 5 o'clock; and, after taking some refreshment, went to the theatre to while away an hour. As it happened, the piece which was being performed was the occasion of his visit was the representation, for when the scene in which the interview between Hawkshaw, the detective, and the "Ticket-of-Leave Man" took place, Parker, the clerk, was so affected that he went out of the theatre, not three quarters, and went BLAMEWARD to his employers."

NEWS FROM THE SOUTH.

good luck. They were so much devoted to our cause that they chose of one in the South, and were ever thereon to go into service. They had applied to him to be received into service, and he had applied to Mr. Ramsay, then Secretary of War. Mr. Ramsay decided against the application, on the ground that it might furnish to the enemy a pretext of arming our slaves against us. Some time after this he was again applied to by them, and he wrote to the present Secretary of War, Mr. Seward, and laid the matter before him. Mr. Seward refused to entertain the proposition, on the ground that it did not come up before him through the military authorities. To obviate this objection, Gen. Meade, of Mobile, soon afterwards represented their wishes to the War Department. Mr. Seward refused the offer of their services on the ground that it would be incompatible with the position we occupied before the world; that it could not be done.

Mr. Ramsay said he differed with the Secretary of War. He cared not for "the world." He cared more for their opinions than they did for ours. He was anxious to bring into service every free man, black or white, he care, willing to strike for our cause. He saw no objection to employing Creoles—they would form a potent element in our army. In his district alone a brigade of them could be raised. The cause had been brought home to us by the enemy, and he believed the time would yet come when the question would not be the Union, or no Union, but whether Southern men should be permitted to live at all. In reading extracts from such barbarous, he had was for employing all our available force. He would say further, and say that he was for arming and putting the slaves into the military service. He was in favor even of employing them as a military arm in the defense of the country.

THE CONDUCT OF THE WAR.

Mr. Grove, of Virginia, offered the following joint resolutions on the war:

Resolved by the Congress of the Confederate States, That the object to defend, and a reason to remind the enemy of the Southern States, that they are engaged in a war for the preservation both of liberty and civilization, and that no sacrifice of life and fortune can be too great, which may be requisite to secure to themselves and their posterity the enjoyment of the inappreciable blessings, which they received from their sire, the judgment of Congress, the resources of the country, developed with energy and husbanded with care, are more than sufficient to support the most protracted war which it may be necessary to wage for our independence, and to exhort them, by every consideration which can influence freemen and patriots, to a magnanimous and generous exertion of all personal and pecuniary sacrifices for every laudable purpose, in whatever quarter or upon whatever pretext it may be made, to a generous support of all branches of the Government, in the legitimate exercise of their constitutional powers, and to that manifestation of unshaken and patriotic confederation which can alone insure to us the fruits of our struggle, which spring from united council, fraternal feelings and fervent devotion to the public weal.

After a spirited debate, the resolutions were rejected, by 55 to 22.

RETALIATION.

From the Richmond Examiner, Jan. 2.

It will be recollected that, some weeks ago, a Georgia cavalryman, DANIEL BRIGHT, of the Twenty-second Georgia, was hanged by the Yankees as a guerrilla. It now appears that retaliation has been speedily executed by our troops. We learn that, at the root of the tragic execution, a few days ago, our soldiers hung, in retaliation, a negro soldier, from Ohio, and that his body was left swinging on the very tree. Immediately Bright was suspended. The victim was of white parentage; he had been captured near Kingston City, and was hurried by a band of negroes, seventy miles to the place of execution, that the retaliation might be executed on the very same spot where the atrocity which occasioned it had been committed. Our informant saw the corpse swinging in the wind at Hampton Cross-roads. The following label was attached to it:

NEGRO.—Here hangs SAM JONES, of the Fifth Ohio Cavalry, executed in retaliation for DANIEL BRIGHT, hung by the order of Brig.-Gen. WILD. By order of Gen. PICKETT.

We have, also, information of the hanging of another black soldier, the day before yesterday, by our pickets, in Hanover. He was caught in Berryville, and, it is said to have been much affected at the consequences of his enlistment.

In addition to these fearful and determined acts of retaliation, we learn that two hostages were yesterday committed to Castle Thunder, under the orders of Col. GRIFFIN, one white man, and the other a bright mulatto; and that they will be held to await the action of Gen. GRANT, who commands at Portsmouth, to hang two women, who are already in irons, in retaliation for the execution of the negro Jones.

The fact seems to have been forts for stern and tragic work on the North Carolina frontier, in this dark and melancholy country of swamps, overrun with negro banditti, and now in special theatre of war's vengeance. Our informant states that Capt. MAPOY, of Bunnycombe's battalion, had recently come out from Princess Anne County and joined Col. GRIFFIN's command; and that he is entirely certain, from what he heard from our officers, that seven of MAPOY's men, taken by the enemy, were hung.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Monday, Jan. 18.

VACCINATION.

Mr. HENDERSON, of Missouri, (Union,) introduced a resolution requiring the Corporations of Georgetown and Washington to establish a general system of vaccination. Adopted.

ENLISTMENTS.

Mr. WILSON, of Massachusetts, (Union,) reported back the bill to promote enlistments and for other purposes.

BUREAU OF EMANCIPATION.

Mr. HOWE, of Wisconsin, (Union,) introduced a bill to establish a Bureau of Emancipation. Referred to the Select Committee on Slavery.

COLORED MAIL.

Mr. SUMNER, of Massachusetts, (Union,) introduced a resolution to abolish the "color qualification" in carrying the mails.

NAVY OFFICERS.

Mr. RAMSEY, of Minnesota, (Union,) offered a resolution requesting the Secretary of the Navy to communicate to the Senate the advice of the Board of Examination into the grades of officers in the navy. Adopted.

NIAGARA FALLS SHIP-CANAL.

Mr. CHANDLER, of Michigan, (Union,) presented petitions praying for the construction of a ship-canal around Niagara Falls. Referred.

RESOLUTIONS OF THANKS.

The joint resolutions of thanks to Major-Gens. MCCLELLAN, BURNSIDE and HOWARD and the officers and men of the Army of the Potomac, were adopted.

Also, the resolutions of thanks to Major-Gens. BANKS and BANKS and the officers and men under their commands were also adopted.

THE SENATORIAL OATH OF ALLEGIANCE.

On motion of Mr. SUMNER, of Massachusetts, (Union,) the resolution in relation to the prescribed oath to be taken by Senators was made the special order for to-morrow, at 12½ o'clock.

Mr. BAYARD gave notice that after an expression of his views upon the subject to-morrow, he should take no further part in the debate, nor should he vote upon the resolution, believing it indecorous in him to vote upon any measure upon which his future action might depend.

EXPULSION OF MR. DAVIS.

On motion of Mr. SHERMAN, the resolution to expel Mr. DAVIS was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

AGRICULTURE AND EMIGRATION.

The bill of Mr. FESSENDEN to incorporate the North American Land and Emigration Company was referred to the Committee on Agriculture. It is designed to encourage and promote the sale and settlement of unoccupied lands in the United States, and the development of the mineral and agricultural resources. It is to be located in Washington, with an office in New-York, under the management of THOS. CORWIN, John Butterfield, Charles Gould, Lucien Birdseye, Frederick Kuhne, Thomas F. Mason, Robert Halsey, William Parsell, Horatio Bigelow, William V. Leroy, and their associates.

The capital stock is $1,000,000, with a privilege of an increase to $5,000,000, divided into shares of $100 each. The Directors shall consist of not less than seven nor more than sixteen members. It is empowered to buy lands, erect buildings, make contracts for the transportation of emigrants, &c.

THE ENROLLMENT BILL.

Mr. SUMNER, of Rhode Island, (Union,) offered modifications to the clause in the Enrollment bill, exempting non-combatants. Rejected.

Mr. HOWARD, of Michigan, (Union,) offered an amendment defining that the killing of an officer who is a commissioner, shall be classed as murder under the United States laws. Adopted.

Several verbal amendments were then adopted.

The bill, as amended, was finally passed by the following vote:

YEAS.—Messrs. Anthony, Clark, Collamer, Cowan, Doolittle, Fessenden, Foot, Foster, Grimes, Harlan, Harris, Howard, Johnson, Lane, of Kansas, Morgan, Morrill, Nesmith, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Sprague, Sumner, Ten Eyck, Van Winkle, Wade, Wilkey, Wilson—24.

NAYS.—Messrs. Buckalew, Carlile, Grimes, Hendricks, Howe, Lane of Indiana, Powell, Saulsbury, Wilkinson, Wright—10.

THANKS TO COMMODORE VANDERBILT.

The resolution of thanks to COMMODORE VANDERBILT, for his gift of the steamship Vanderbilt to the Government, was passed.

The Senate went into executive session, and adjourned till 12 M. to-day.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Monday, Jan. 18.

THE OATH TO THE MALE.

Mr. KELLEY, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) offered a resolution that the oath of the Speaker of the House of Representatives be presented to the Christian Commission for the hooding of their anniversary meeting.

Mr. COX, of Ohio, (Dem.) objected to the motion, especially after what they had been on Saturday night, when the hall was stained by a person of whom he need not speak.

A resolution of similar import, however, was subsequently passed.

RECONSTRUCTION.

Mr. DAWSON, of Pennsylvania, (Dem.,) offered the following:

Whereas, A great civil war like that which now afflicts the United States, is the most grievous of all calamities, producing, as it does, spoliation, bloodshed, anarchy, public debt, official corruption and private immorality; and the American Government cannot rightfully make such a war upon any portion of its people, except for the sole purpose of vindicating the Constitution and laws and restoring both to their just supremacy; and

Whereas, This House, on the 22d day of July, 1861, speaking in the name of the American people, and in the face of the world, solemnly and truly declared that it was waged for no purpose of conquest or oppression, but solely to restore the Union, with all the rights of the people and States unimpaired; and

Whereas, In every war especially in any war of invasion, and most particularly if it be a civil war between portions of the same country, the object of it ought to be clearly defined, and the terms distinctly stated upon which hostilities will cease; and the advancing armies of the Government should carry the Constitution in one hand while they hold the sword in the other, so that the invaded party may have its choice between the two; therefore,

Resolved, That the President be requested to make known, by public proclamation or otherwise, to all the country, that whenever any State, now in insurrection, shall submit itself to the authority of the Federal Government, as defined in the Constitution, all hostilities against her shall cease, and such State shall be protected from all external interference with her local laws and institutions, and her people shall be guaranteed in the full enjoyment of all those rights which the Federal Constitution gave them.

On motion of Mr. STEVENS, the above preamble and resolution were laid on the table by a vote of 79 yeas to 36 nays, as follows:

YEAS.—Messrs. Ames, Arnold, Ashley, Baldwin of Massachusetts, Baxter, Beaman, Blaine, Blair of Missouri, Blair of Western Virginia, Boutwell, Brandegee, Brooks, Broomall, Ambrose W. Clark, Freeman Clarke, Cole, Cornell, Cravens, Creswell, Davis of Maryland, Davis of New-York, Dawes, Deming, Dixon, Driggs, Eckley, Eliot, Farnsworth, Fenton, Frank, Garfield, Gooch, Hibbee, Hooper, Hotchkiss, Hubbard of Iowa, Hubbard of Conn., Jenckes, Julian, Kasson, Kelley, Kellogg of Michigan, Longyear, Lovejoy, Morris, McBride, McClurg, McIndoe, Miller of N. Y., Morehead, Morrill, Morris of New-York, Amos Myers, Leonard Myers, O'Neill of Pennsylvania, Orth, Patterson, Pike, Price, Randall of Kentucky, Rice of Massachusetts, Rice of Maine, Rollins of New-Hampshire, Schenck, Scofield, Shannon, Smith, Smithers, Spaulding, Stevens, Thomas of Maryland, Upson, Van Valkenburgh, Washburne of Illinois, Washburne of Massachusetts, Wheeler, Williams, Wilson, Woodbridge, Windom.

NAYS.—Messrs. James C. Allen, Ancona, Baldwin of Michigan, Blair, Brooks, Brown of Wisconsin, Brown of Western Virginia, Chanler, Cox, Cutler, Cox, Dawson, Denison, Edgerton, Eldridge, English, Fisk, Ganson, Grider, Griswold, Hale, Hall, Harding, Harrington, Harris of Maryland, Herrick, Holman, Hutchins, Johnson of O., Kernan, Lansar, Leblond, Long, Marcy, McAllister, McDowell, McKinney, Middleton, Miller of Pennsylvania, Morris of Ohio, Morrison, Nelson, Pendleton, Robinson, Ross, Steele of New-York, Stiles, Stuart, Sweat, Voorhees, Wadsworth, Wheeler, Chilton A. White, Joseph W. White, Fernando Wood, Yeaman.

DUTY ON PRINTING PAPER.

Mr. MILLER, of Pennsylvania, (Dem.,) offered a resolution, which was accepted, instructing the Committee of Ways and Means to inquire into the expediency of repealing so much of the 5th section of the act to modify the existing tariff laws as imposes an ad valorem duty of 20 per cent. on printing paper unfolded, used for books and newspapers exclusively.

EXEMPTING CLERGYMEN.

Mr. THAYER, of New-York, (Union,) offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Military Affairs to inquire into and report to the House whether it is expedient to amend the Enrollment Act so as to exempt clergymen of all denominations engaged in the duties of their office.

This resolution was tabled—yeas 100, nays 45.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.

Mr. CONNESS, of Pennsylvania, (Dem.,) offered a resolution that, the Senate concurring, the first session of the Thirty-eighth Congress be closed on the third Monday in April next.

Objection being made, the resolution lays over.

RANK OF CHAPLAINS.

Mr. AMOS MYERS, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) introduced a bill giving the rank of Captain of cavalry to Chaplains. Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

EVACUATION OF CUMBERLAND GAP.

Mr. COX, of Ohio, (Dem.,) offered a resolution, which being objected to, lies over, directing the Secretary of War to forward to Congress copies of a communication from Brig.-Gen. G. W. Morgan, to Adjt.-Gen. THOMAS, dated Mt. Vernon, Ohio, June 6, 1863, and of the exhibits attached, marked from "A" to "G" inclusive, the same being in reply to that of the official report of Maj.-Gen. HALLECK, dated Dec. 2, 1862, relative to the evacuation of Cumberland Gap.

THE EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS.

Mr. COX also offered the following:

Resolved, That the President be respectfully and earnestly requested to appoint a Board of Commissioners, who can by negotiation reach the authorities of the South, with a view to the immediate exchange of our prisoners under the cartel heretofore agreed upon; and that the negotiation be withdrawn from the hands of Maj.-Gen. BUTLER, who, as it is reported, is unable, from causes connected with his past military conduct, to hold intercourse with those charged with this business at Richmond; and that all communications, not already published, with reference to the prisoners, be transmitted to the House.

Mr. WASHBURNE, (of Ill.,) moved to lay the resolution on the table, which was agreed to, by a vote of 91 against 56.

THE RULES.

Mr. DAVIS, of Maryland, (Union,) asked leave to make a report from the Select Committee on the rebellious States.

The House refused to suspend the rules for that purpose, a two-thirds vote being necessary.

THE CONDUCT OF THE WAR.

Mr. SCHENCK, of Ohio, (Union,) from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back the Senate resolutions, providing for the appointment of a Select Committee, of three members of the Senate and four of the House, to inquire into the conduct and expenses of the present war, with an amendment that said committee make further inquiries into all contracts and agreements, before the final report of the committee, with any department of the Government; that the committee may sit during the recess of Congress, and at such times and in such places as they may deem proper, have power to send for persons and papers, and requiring the Sergeant-at-Arms of either House in person, or by deputy, to serve subpœnas, and pay expenses for the attendance of witnesses, &c.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, (Union,) offered an amendment that the Speaker of the House or the Vice-President shall be authorized to issue subpœnas to witnesses during the recess of Congress, on the request of the Committee; in the same manner as during the session of Congress, and that the Committee be authorized to report at any time.

Mr. COX, of Ohio, (Dem.,) was against the amendment, being opposed to a roving Commission.

The amendment was agreed to, 126 to 26.

Mr. SCHENCK's report as thus amended was adopted.

THE RIGHTS OF STATES.

Mr. HARDING, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) offered a resolution that the maintainance inviolate of the rights of the States, and especially the rights of each State to order and control its own judgment exclusively, is essential to that balance of power on which the perfection and endurance of our political fabric depends.

An ineffectual attempt was made to lay the resolution on the table.

Mr. FENTON, of New-York, (Union,) moved to refer the resolution to a select Committee on the Rebellious States. This was agreed to, 83 against 66.

BRIG.-GEN. ANDERSON.

A resolution was adopted instructing the Committee on Military Affairs to inquire into the propriety of reporting a bill retiring Brig.-Gen. ANDERSON, with full pay and allowances.

OUR DUTY TO THE REBELLION.

Mr. SMITH, of Kentucky, (Union,) offered the following:

Whereas, A most desperate, wicked and bloody rebellion exists in this, the jurisdiction of the United States, and the safety and security of personal and national liberty depend upon its absolute and utter extinction; therefore,

Resolved, That it is the political, civil, moral and sacred duty of the people to meet it fight it, and forever destroy it, thereby establishing perfect and unalterable liberty.

J. W. ALLEN, (of Illinois, Dem.,) moved that the House adjourn, but only 33 voted in the affirmative.

He then moved to lay the resolution on the table. Decided in the negative 27 against 101.

The resolution was then agreed to, Yeas 112, Nays 16, as follows:

YEAS.—Messrs. Ailey, Allison, Ames, Arnold, Ashley, Bailey, Baldwin of Massachusetts, Baxter, Blaine, Blair of Missouri, Blair of Western Virginia, Boutwell, Boyd, Brandegee, Brooks, Broomall, Brown of Wisconsin, Brown of Western Virginia, Ambrose W. Clarke, Freeman Clarke, Cole, Cravens, Creswell, Dawes, Deming, Dixon, Donnelly, Driggs, Eckley, Eldridge, Eliot, English, Farnsworth, Fenton, Frank, Gannon, Garfield, Gooch, Grinnell, Griswold, Hale, Harding, Higby, Holman, Hooper, Hotchkiss, Hubbard of Iowa, Hutchins, Jenckes, Julian, Kasson, Kelley, Kellogg of Michigan, Kellogg of New-York, Kernan, Lean, Longyear, Lovejoy, Marvin, McBride, McClurg, McIndoe, Middleton, Miller of New-York, Morehead, Morrill, Morris of New-York, Amos Myers, Leonard Myers, Nelson, Odell, O'Neill of Pennsylvania, Orth, Patterson, Pike, Pomeroy, Price, Radford, Randall of Massachusetts, Rice of Maine, Rice of Massachusetts, Rollins, (N. H.,) Rollins, (Mo.,) Schenck, Scofield, Shannon, Smith, Smithers, Spaulding, Thayer, Thomas, Stevens, Stewart, Sweat, Thayer, Thomas, Tracy, Upson, Van Valkenburgh, Wadsworth, Washburne, (Ill.,) Washburne, (Mass.,) Wheeler, Wheeler, Williams, Wilder, Wilson, Windom, Winfield, Woodbridge, Yeaman—116.

NAYS.—Messrs. James C. Allen of Illinois, Chanler, Harris of Maryland, Long, Marcy, McDowell, Miller of Pennsylvania, Morrison, O'Neil of Ohio, Pendleton, Robinson, Stiles, Voorhees, Chilton A. White, Fernando Wood.

MISS DICKINSON.

Mr. STEVENSON, of Indiana, (Dem.,) offered a preamble, that

Whereas, ANNA E. DICKINSON was straight the pet of the Hall to deliver a public address, entitled "Work for the Hour," on Saturday evening last, and whereas she appeared on the platform, supported on the right by the Vice-President and on the left by the Speaker of the House, who lent by their national authority, gave, or appeared to give, a governmental authority to the address, which was a political rhapsody, and a partisan support of the present Administration, and a denunciation of its opponents, and was evidently designed to influence the great measures of legislation before this House, therefore

Resolved, That we disapprove of such a use of this Hall for political purposes, and regard it as disrespectful to the minority of this House.

Mr. SCHENCK moved that the proposition be rejected.

The Speaker decided that it was not before the House according to the rules—the gentleman from Indiana having already offered another resolution, which was objected to.

UNEMPLOYED OFFICERS.

Mr. HOLMAN, of Indiana, (Dem.,) offered a preamble, setting forth that a large number of army officers, including Major and Brigadier-Generals, have been relieved of active service while receiving full pay; and whereas it was just that the number of such officers should be limited; therefore

Resolved, That the policy of retaining the pay of the Government Officers with undefined leave from active service, and who are not on the retired list, ought to be discontinued; and that the Committee on Military Affairs be instructed to take into consideration the providing of a remedy.

The resolution was adopted.

The House adjourned.

CATARRH CURED

BY

DR. VON EISENBERG,

AT HIS CONSULTING ROOMS,

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH.

No. 22 FORSYTH-ST., New-York, Oct. 1, 1863.

Dr. Von Eisenberg:

DEAR SIR: Without recapitulating the numerous benefits I have received through your wonderful cure of the deafness I have labored under many years, the blessings I enjoy will convince the most skeptical.

I have tried many aurists, in Europe and America, without success. I was still deaf as a post.

Three years ago I entered your office, underwent one operation, hoping, yet doubting, I should receive any relief, but was agreeably disappointed in finding the genius of your profession.

The Creator will you possess cured my deafness in one almost painless operation.

The joy I experienced was indescribable; 'twas a new life to me.

My hearing is perfect to this day.

I strongly advise all who are suffering under a difficulty of hearing, or total deafness, to consult you immediately, as I also personally recommend all who apply to me. The numerous calls troubles on my time and patience, yet, remembering my own long, weary affliction, causes me to pity them.

This is not written to advertise your well-known unrivaled reputation—that would be puerile; but as a measure of precaution, to induce all to call on you at once, without troubling me; yet I do not refuse to see any one who comes to me. This is the only way I can show my gratitude.

I also call the attention of those who are suffering from Catarrh, which disease I have labored under one year or more.

I experienced difficulty in breathing, hawking, heavy nose, sometimes a sense of lightness on the brain, and [illegible] of a loud and vivid nature. Accompanied with a "polypus," quite filling the right nostril on the top, all, you operated on both, killing the polypus, which is gradually passing away, and giving me great relief from the Catarrh. One more operation will effectually cure.

This testimonial brings with it my unalloyed and grateful thanks, with but a poor delineation of your wondrous skill as an Aurist.

I am, Sir, yours very gratefully,

EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.

Dr. H. H. Sterling, No. 463 Broadway, New-York:

DEAR SIR: Feeling it to be a duty which I owe to myself and the world, I address you for the purpose of stating some facts with reference to your ALBEROLA. About one year ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time there was but little of it left on my head, and that was thin and short. Feeling greatly mortified at its loss and the appearance of my head, I tried various preparations advertised to restore lost hair, &c., but without avail, until at last my attention was called to an advertisement of your ALBEROLA, with a cut from a photograph from life of Mrs. L. A. Brown. I then determined to try it faithfully, and commenced its use at once, and the result could not have been more satisfactory. My hair is now extremely thick, being an entirely new crop, and when let down reaches below my waist, and is still growing rapidly.

Attributing this gratifying and wonderful result solely to the use of your ALBEROLA, I beg to hand you this letter, with permission to use it as you may please, and also offer you the use of my photograph, showing the remarkable effect of your preparation on my hair.

Very respectfully and gratefully, yours, &c.,

MISS MINNIE APPLETON,

READ WHO SAYS SO!

From Rev. Levi G. Beck, Pastor of the Baptist Meeting, Pemberton, N. J.; formerly of the North Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

I have known Hoofland's German Bitters favorably for a number of years. I have used them in my own family and have been so pleased with their effects that I was induced to recommend them to many others, and know that they have operated in a strikingly beneficial manner. I take great pleasure in thus publicly proclaiming the fact, and calling the attention of those afflicted with the diseases for which they are recommended, to these Bitters, knowing from experience that my recommendation will be sustained. I do this more cheerfully as Hoofland's Bitters is intended to benefit the afflicted, and is "not a rum drink."

Yours truly,

LEVI G. BECK.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reason why a man may not justly do the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this City, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend, Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by presenting and by encouragement to try them, when recovering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief and preparation to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

J. NEWTON BROWN.

From Rev. Robert H. Kennard, Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church.

DR. JACKSON—Dear Sir: I feel it due to your excellent preparation, Hoofland's German Bitters, to add my
